

TRUCE ACCORD 'CLOSE'

...Saigon Paper Sees It As Feb. 3

By United Press International

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam said Friday the United States and South Vietnam are "very close" to a cease-fire agreement with the Communists. A Saigon newspaper with close ties to the government said a truce could go into effect Feb. 3.

In Washington, outgoing Defense Secretary Melvin Laird urged the South Vietnamese to back any cease-fire agreement fully. Otherwise, he said, they might find it "very very difficult" getting further support from the United States.

Thailand's Prime Minister Thanom Kittakachorn said a cease-fire could be extended to Cambodia and Laos about 10 days after going into effect in Vietnam. But he said U.S. presidential emissary Gen. Alexander Haig was returning to Saigon from Bangkok because "there are still some questions to be worked out."

In Paris, U.S. and North Vietnamese law and language experts held another technical level meeting in advance of the scheduled Tuesday resumption of top level negotiations between Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi Politburo member Le Duc Tho. The diplomatic experts have been meeting almost continually in Paris, spending long hours on the protocols which will accompany an eventual cease-fire agreement.

Nixon, Kissinger Confer

In Washington President Nixon conferred for 75 minutes Friday with Kissinger on Vietnam peace negotiations. He then began putting finishing touches to his inaugural speech.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon would not deal with Vietnam negotiations in his inaugural address, but obviously was going to refer to peace in that area.

Ziegler was asked about a Columbia Broadcasting System report that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew might fly to Saigon to initial a peace agreement. He did not give a direct response, dismissing the report as speculation. Agnew's office said it knew of no such plans.

Optimism mounted in world capitals following Thursday's simultaneous Hanoi-Washington announcement that Kissinger and Tho would resume their private negotiations next week in Paris to "complete the text" of a peace agreement.

War Goes On

But the war in Vietnam went on. South Vietnamese marines turned back four assaults by Communist troops and tanks on the fortified northern front Friday. A fleet of U.S. jets and offshore gunboats joined the northern battles by pounding targets in Communist-held territory below the demilitarized zone.

In Saigon the newspaper Tin Song, financed by Hoang Duc Nha, President Nguyen Van Thieu's nephew and closest adviser, said a cease-fire could go into effect Feb. 3, the beginning of Tet, the lunar new year.

Once a cease-fire is declared, the newspaper said, the Saigon government probably will impose a 24-hour curfew requiring South Vietnam's 18 million residents to remain in their homes.

Foreign Minister Lam, asked by newsmen if a cease-fire could come by Tet, replied: "I do not want to be a prophet, so I do not want to guess about the date for a cease-fire." But later he added, "The only thing I can say is we are very close."

Clarification Sought

Lam said South Vietnam was asking for "clarification" of some points in the revised draft agreement but added "Frankly, I can't reveal to you what Gen. Haig brought to President Thieu or what he took back."

A White House spokesman said Haig would return to Saigon Saturday from Bangkok. Nixon's peace envoy conferred with government leaders in Cambodia, Laos and Thailand — the three other nations involved in the Indochina war — after leaving Saigon Thursday morning. Haig met with Thieu Tuesday and Wednesday.

In Vientiane, Laotian Prime Minister Prince Souvanna Phouma said he requested a quick cease-fire in Laos after a Vietnam truce during consultations with Haig.

Defense Says Government Published Information Witness Called Secret

Los Angeles (AP) — A defense attorney in the Pentagon Papers trial said Friday that information described by a government witness as secret was published by the government in a report that could be bought by anyone for $6.

The point was brought out during cross-examination of a high Army staff officer who testified earlier that Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo could have been helping the enemy by releasing a top-secret report written in 1968 by Gen. Earl Wheeler, then chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The report assessed effectiveness of North Vietnamese troops and American forces during the 1968 Tet offensive.

The government witness, Lt. Gen. William DePuy, said such information would be highly "useful" to North Vietnam in planning another similar attack.

Ellsberg, 41, and Russo, 36, are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in the leak to the press of top-secret documents detailing origins of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The government seeks to show the papers shouldn't have been made public.

Copy Of Public Report

At the start of the session, Russo's attorney Leonard Weinglass produced a copy of a public report written by Gen. William Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam in 1968.

Westmoreland's report, pages of which were shown to jurors on large slides, contained several facts identical to those in the Wheeler report. DePuy acknowledged this, but insisted that the totality of the Wheeler report still was more important than the Westmoreland report.

"An isolated fact or piece of information has very limited importance," DePuy said of one section, an assessment of North Vietnamese troop capabilities repeated in the published report.

"But in the context of the Wheeler report it has many implications and that's important," as the statement of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, then that's an important document."

As Weinglass showed several slides repeating identical information in the Wheeler and Westmoreland reports, he suddenly stunned courtroom viewers by flashing on the screen a New York Times headline dated March 10, 1968, which said, "Westmoreland Requests 206,000 More Troops."

DePuy had testified that the request for those troops was part of the classified report.

"That's not in evidence," shouted government prosecutor David Nissen, jumping to his feet as the headline appeared.

The jury was quickly dismissed from the room and U.S. District Judge Matt Byrne said he would hear arguments on whether the headline should be allowed in evidence at this time.

Nissen angrily accused the defense of using "cheap tricks" and the judge told Weinglass it was "highly improper" to show the headline before formally introducing it as evidence.

But after lengthy arguments Byrne admitted the news story and it was shown to jurors again.

'Older' Students Are Utilized As Teachers

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Although some of the "teachers" at Lincoln's Beattie Elementary School are twice as old as their pupils, that's still not saying much age-wise—the pupils are only 6.

The "teachers," although most of them are 11 and 12, are as excited and attentive (and as willing to crack down) as the school's full-time adult teachers and aides.

"The kids often learn more from the kids than the adults," was the way one of the adult teachers put it. And that, said Mrs. Artie Melancon, is true even though the 6th grade students are only "there to provide a little reinforcement" to the first-graders.

Planning Time Needed

The idea to utilize the older students as aides a few minutes several days a week was an outgrowth of a yearn by adult teachers to free themselves for some planning time for teaching teams.

The older students work in rooms where parent-volunteers and adult aides provide supervision, and they work at helping the young ones reinforce skills—mostly in language arts—that the teachers believe are particularly needed.

The 20-minute periods give the adult teachers a head start at the end of the school day on their own planning, and they also provide good experience for both ages of youngsters.

Really Good Feeling

"It gives me a really good feeling after I know I've helped somebody," said Nancy Nuernberger, 11. She had just come from a primary one room where she was helping four of the smaller children play a reading game.

In other parts of the room, other small groups were playing similar games—all of them designed to help the little ones master reading skills.

When one of the first-graders wandered off and began disturbing some others, 11-year-old Sally Dutton was quick to encourage him back to his own group.

Sort Of Fun

"I'm the youngest in the family," said Sally a bit later, adding the chance to keep even younger ones in line was "sort of fun."

But she also noted that the adults "can't really get involved with every one" of the pupils, and she said she believes the volunteer work helps youngsters who "can learn a lot more than in a great big classroom."

When asked if they saw the tutoring as valuable, Nancy, Sally, Karen Hesson and Jim Cook all quickly nodded.

"It's pretty valuable to the little kids," said Chris Myers, another of the young teaching aides. "They need older attention besides just teachers."

"They need to learn on their own, without adult supervision."

Prices Begin Going Up After Controls Relaxed

©The New York Times

New York — Prices began to move up this week in a variety of industries following a loosening of economic controls nine days ago by the Nixon administration.

Probably the most significant increase was a rise of 3/4 cents a gallon in the wholesale price of No. 2 fuel oil, announced Friday by Mobil Oil Corp. The fuel is primarily used to heat homes, and the 6% increase is expected to be quickly adopted by other oil companies and passed along to home owners.

Other recent price increases have been announced for such varied products as newsprint, zinc, aluminum sheet and foil, sulphur, paperboard and record albums and tapes.

Businessmen and economists warned when Phase 3 was announced that there was likely to be a surge of price increases in the weeks ahead.

Prices are being raised quickly by some companies because they no longer have to wait for Price Commission approval.

Under the new regulations, prior approval of price increases is unnecessary, as long as they conform to the government's guidelines. Furthermore, profit margin restrictions have been loosened substantially.

Eastern Part Of State Has Heavy Fog

Heavy fog covered parts of eastern Nebraska Friday, cutting visibility at times early in the day to as much as one sixteenth of a mile at Lincoln and Columbus.

Norfolk, Omaha, and Beatrice also reported fog during the day.

Frontier Airline's Lincoln office said two flights bypassed the Capital City early Friday due to the foggy conditions. And one United Airlines flight out of Lincoln was delayed 20 minutes Friday morning.

A return to more normal January weather is expected Saturday following a week of mild temperatures. Colder temperatures with occasional snow is likely in Nebraska on Saturday, according to the National Weather Service forecast.

Warner Says Gov. Exon Apparently Misrepresented School Aid Plan

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly Friday said Gov. J. James Exon engaged in "what appears to be an almost deliberate misrepresentation" of the school aid plan endorsed by his legislative study committee.

Exon attacked the study unit's recommendations during his budget message to the Legislature.

"They have steadfastly refused to publicly estimate total cost of their plan or give its impact on the sales and income tax rates," the governor insisted.

As Exon spoke, Warner smiled.

Position Stated

Later, the senator told newsmen his committee has often publicly stated the tax rate effects of its recommendation that the state assume responsibility for funding 50% of local school operational costs.

Over a two-year period, such a state aid program would require an additional 1 1/2% state personal income tax rate, Warner noted.

And, despite what the governor may say, Warner suggested, the committee plan would guarantee local property tax relief.

"To insure that is true," the senator said, "we called for separate sales and income tax rates for the schools."

Prevents Diversion

"In that way, there is no way money could be diverted through the general fund for other purposes after it was raised on the pretense of providing property tax relief."

Sen. Gary Anderson of Axtell said he gained the impression from the governor's remarks that "he may be setting the stage for a veto battle" over school aid.

Anderson said he will probably support the school aid reduction in the local property tax.

Appropriations Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings expects to begin hearings on the governor's budget bill "within the next few days."

The Sooner The Better

"The sooner we get at this, the better," he said.

Marvel said he returned to Lincoln from a welfare briefing in Phoenix to listen to the budget message.

The Appropriations Committee will build its hearings around the recommendations in the governor's bill, Marvel said. As for now, he noted, he does not have "sufficient detail" to knowledgeably comment on specific figures.

Among other senators, reaction to Exon's message was mixed.

"Excellent," Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha said.

"A typically Exon-ish presentation," Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha suggested. "That means it was an attempt to please everybody while offending nobody, accomplishing neither one nor the other."

Generally Pleased

Sen. Richard Fellman of Omaha said he was "generally pleased" with the budget recommendations, and reacted "favorably" to most of the governor's legislative proposals.

Anderson said Exon "pointed us in the right direction" on a number of issues and his proposals deserve a fair hearing in the Legislature.

But, he said, he is certain "there are going to be some real clashes ahead."

Chambers said he was pleased with some Exon recommendations in welfare and drug control.

"I will try to get him to extend his sensitivity to all families with dependent children and grant the amount of state assistance needed to at least maintain minimum standards of health and decency," he said.

Deductions For Child Care Expenses Greatly Increased

Coming into play on 1972 returns is a greatly increased deduction for child care expenses. Previously, the largest possible annual deduction was $600. For years beginning after 1971, the annual maximum under Code Sec. 214 can be as high as $4,800, notes Commerce Clearing House.

Despite its popular table, the deduction is not limited to expenses for the care of the taxpayer's children. If the taxpayer maintains a household for one or more of the individuals listed below, he may deduct up to $400 per month of the expenses paid for household services and for the care of such individuals.

Qualifying individuals include (1) a dependent under the age of 15 who may be claimed as an exemption, (2) a disabled dependent of any age and (3) a disabled husband or wife. An individual in the second category is eligible even if the taxpayer cannot claim him as an exemption because his gross income exceeds $750.

For Employment

The expenses must be incurred for the purpose of enabling the taxpayer to be employed. Therefore, the deduction is available to a married couple only if both husband and wife are working or seeking work, unless one is unable to work because of disability. A couple who is married on the last day of the taxable year must file a joint return to qualify for the deduction.

The form for claiming child care expenses is Form 2441.

If a disabled person (other than a child under 15) receives disability payments under Social Security, Workmen's Compensation, private insurance, etc., the expenses that are solely for his care must be reduced. Expenses for general household services, however, need not be reduced.

For a dependent over the age of 14 the amount of the reduction is the excess of the disability payments plus the dependent's adjusted gross income over $750. In the case of a husband or wife, the reduction is simply the amount of disability payments.

Monthly Limit

After expenses have been reduced for disability payments, if any, a monthly limitation is applied to the remaining expenses. The most that may be deducted under any circumstances is $400 per month, regardless of the number of qualifying individuals involved. Except for the care of dependents under 15, the expenses must be for services in the home.

Services outside the home for care of dependents under 15 are subject to a separate monthly limitation: one dependent, $200; two dependents, $300; and three or more dependents, $400.

When expenses are incurred for both in-home and out-of-home services, the in-home limitation is in effect the difference between the allowable out-of-home expenses and $400.

Following application of the dollar limitation, there is still a further reduction of 50% of the excess if adjusted gross income exceeds $18,000.

Forecast For Saturday

Leo loves to gamble but Sagittarius most likely to win where matters of speculation are concerned. Leo is romantic but Gemini takes the cake when it comes to flirting. Leo is a good judge of character but Pisces is psychic when it comes to detecting what people are most likely to do and when they are going to do it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Avoid promising more than you can deliver. Confide in family member. Don't run away from apparent confrontation. Relatives, children are confused, possibly argumentative. Ride out the storm. Remain close to home base.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Obtain hint from Aries message. Emphasis now is on family possessions. Highlight security. Don't give out more of value for mere promise. You will know who is stating facts and otherwise. Head in voice.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You feel vital, alive. Creative juices flow and you are doing them. This is not a time when everything falls into place. Indeed, problems confront you. Challenges face you and members of opposite sex confront you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Go slow enough to be aware of subtle nuances. Path that seems clear is laden with expenses. Don't fall into financial trap. Those who share are better. Scheming to get something for nothing. Protect yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Avoid being ruled by impulse. Welcome change but base more on logic. Strive for greater balance. Partnership, special relationship is tested. Married, be especially considerate toward mate. Hold off on signing of legal documents.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Much of what you are involved in now is to hold some check on emotions. Give love but be sure of direction. Member of opposite sex may be unable to reciprocate. You are walking alone time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Friendly service may lack basis of fact. Information know it and act accordingly. Sagittarius could prove helpful. Ask for direction and you probably will receive. Forces tend to be scattered.

12-Year-Old Girl In Brazil Gives Birth To Twins

Rio de Janeiro (AP) — A 12-year-old Brazilian girl has given birth to twin daughters, doctors reported.

The unmarried mother, identified only by her initials, L.S.F., because of laws protecting minors, was released from Iraja public hospital on the city's north side, after what doctors termed a difficult delivery. She said she would name the babies Cristina and Cristiane.

Carlos Alberto de Souza, said he is the father and that he plans to marry the mother.

'Visa Issued'

San Salvador (AP) — A reader asked a columnist of the daily Prensa Grafica if astronauts married passports to the moon. He replied: "The astronauts left with a diplomatic visa issued by the consul of the moon and in space received authorization to descend."

Deductions For Child Care Expenses Greatly Increased

Coming into play on 1972 returns is a greatly increased deduction for child care expenses. Previously, the largest possible annual deduction was $600. For years beginning after 1971, the annual maximum under Code Sec. 214 can be as high as $4,800, notes Commerce Clearing House.

Despite its popular table, the deduction is not limited to expenses for the care of the taxpayer's children. If the taxpayer maintains a household for one or more of the individuals listed below, he may deduct up to $400 per month of the expenses paid for household services and for the care of such individuals.

Qualifying individuals include (1) a dependent under the age of 15 who may be claimed as an exemption, (2) a disabled dependent of any age and (3) a disabled husband or wife. An individual in the second category is eligible even if the taxpayer cannot claim him as an exemption because his gross income exceeds $750.

For Employment
The expenses must be incurred for the purpose of enabling the taxpayer to be employed. Therefore, the deduction is available to a married couple only if both husband and wife are working or seeking work, unless one is unable to work because of disability. A couple who is married on the last day of the taxable year must file a joint return to qualify for the deduction.

The form for claiming child care expenses is Form 2441.

If a disabled person (other than a child under 15) receives disability payments under Social Security, Workmen's Compensation, private insurance, etc., the expenses that are solely for his care must be reduced. Expenses for general household services, however, need not be reduced.

For a dependent over the age of 14 the amount of the reduction is the excess of the disability payments plus the dependent's adjusted gross income over $750. In the case of a husband or wife, the reduction is simply the amount of disability payments.

Monthly Limit

After expenses have been reduced for disability payments, if any, a monthly limitation is applied to the remaining expenses. The most that may be deducted under any circumstances is $400 per month, regardless of the number of qualifying individuals involved. Except for the care of dependents under 15, the expenses must be for services in the home.

Services outside the home for care of dependents under 15 are subject to a separate monthly limitation: one dependent, $200; two dependents, $300; and three or more dependents, $400.

When expenses are incurred for both in-home and out-of-home services, the in-home limitation is in effect the difference between the allowable out-of-home expenses and $400. Following application of the dollar limitation, there is still a further reduction of 50% of the excess if adjusted gross income exceeds $18,000.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It was a rather disturbing story appearing in the news this week about eight individuals who faked schizophrenia and were never discovered as sane by doctors in mental hospitals. After gaining entry to the hospitals, the group then acted in as normal a fashion as possible.

The group was discharged after a short time, each bearing on his record the label "schizophrenia in remission." The experiment appeared to demonstrate the fact that determination of at least that form of mental disorder is a very uncertain thing.

Having been categorized, even incorrectly, the group of eight was unable to get the record set straight. Those who sponsored the experiment said that it raises serious questions about the validity of commitments for mental disorders.

In other words, how many people might be wrongly confined to mental institutions? On the other side, how many people who perhaps should be confined are not?

The experiment is one with which many people might take exception, on the basis that trickery is not a legitimate part of any kind of research. There is something to be said for this point of view but the situation leaves you rather uneasy, just the same.

Of course, the experiment does back up the fact that people have a tendency to make surface judgments of others. It is easy to look at and meet an individual and quickly decide what you think of him or her. You may decide the person is unfriendly, an extrovert, an optimist, truthful, dishonest or what have you.

It is more important, however, that one takes a little time to know another person before trying to judge him. The best course of action is not to judge at all but simply to accept people for what they are, but that demands a sense of humanity that not all people have.

Also, the experiment shows how difficult it can be to escape from any tag or label that may be hung upon you. This has been a serious problem with many minority groups in this country, being assumed to possess certain undesirable characteristics simply as a matter of heredity.

How many people attribute to blacks patterns of conduct or behavior based solely on the color of skin, a completely false thought process? Nearly any nationality of people is attributed with characteristics that are not at all a part of all descendants of that nationality.

Fat people are supposed to be happy, too, but what could being fat actually have to do with one's outlook on life or his personality, any more than any other physical characteristic might influence your attitude? Some people think eyes can identify a shifty individual when there simply could be no such automatic correlation.

We are, of course, creatures of habit and this is what accounts for many of the really incorrect actions we take and determinations we make. We wonder if this would not be a factor in another area of medicine now being discussed in the State Legislature.

It is proposed that we set up in law a position of physician's assistant. The idea is one that is prominent throughout the country as a possible answer to the shortage of doctors.

No place is more short of doctors than the rural areas, thus giving the assistantship idea a lot of prominence in Nebraska. The theory is certainly a good one but you have to wonder if the plan would work very well in practice.

How many of a doctor's patients would accept the service of an assistant as opposed to that of the doctor? Perhaps there are enough situations in which there would be such assistance but people are not always as sensible as they might otherwise be when they need medical help.

Hughes Linked To Nixon Contribution

WASHINGTON — Two federal agencies investigating the elusive billionaire Howard Hughes have discovered, to their discomfort, tracks leading right up to the White House steps.

The Internal Revenue Service has turned up evidence that $100,000 was siphoned from the Silver Slipper, a Hughes gambling emporium, for Richard Nixon's 1968 campaign. And the Securities and Exchange Commission has learned that the President's brother, Don Nixon, played a part in Hughes' maneuvers to take over the airline, Air West.

The story of the $100,000 contribution was first noted on August 6, 1971. We reported that the gambling money was delivered by Richard Danner, a Hughes exec, to Bebe Rebozo, a Nixon confidante.

Our information was based on access to Hughes' private papers. On March 14, 1968, Hughes scribbled confidential instructions to Robert Maheu, then his chief honcho.

I want you to go to see Nixon as my special confidential emissary. I feel there is a really valid possibility of a Republican victory this year. The phantom billionaire suggested that Nixon could win under our sponsorship and supervision every inch of the way. We found no evidence, however, that Hughes sponsored the Nixon campaign beyond the $100,000 contribution.

Treasury agents came across the mysterious contribution as part of an investigation into Hughes' operations. They are looking into every financial deal and every expenditure that can be traced back to the billionaire.

Sources close to the investigation report that the Treasury men have questioned Danner, who now runs the Sands hotel-casino in Las Vegas for Hughes. Danner acknowledged delivering the $100,000 to Rebozo but claimed the money was intended for the GOP congressional campaign, say our sources. We also talked to Danner, but he refused all comment. Rebozo never takes our calls.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, meanwhile, is investigating reports that Hughes manipulated the stock of Air West to bring pressure on the directors to sell him the airline. Because the board was divided over whether to sell, it is alleged, Hughes persuaded some big stockholders to dump their stock, promising to make good their losses. This allegedly drove down the price of the stock, and the board in panic voted to sell.

SEC investigators learned that Maheu, in Hughes' behalf, made the first approach to Air West through Don Nixon. Maheu, summoned to Washington for secret questioning, acknowledged Nixon's role in the deal. He said that another Hughes executive, John Meier, had made the arrangements with Nixon, who had put Maheu in touch with a board member.

Maheu denied to the SEC, however, that the President's brother had been paid a finder's fee. Don Nixon's involvement with Hughes in the Air West deal could revive the old story about the $205,000 loan Don received from the billionaire back in 1956. The loan was secured by a mortgage on a small Whittier, Calif., lot that no bank would have accepted as security for a loan of that size. The loan, so far as we can learn, was never repaid.

We reached Maheu, who had no comment, but couldn't reach Don Nixon.

It will be interesting to watch, meanwhile, whether the IRS and SEC will be willing to go ahead with investigations that could embarrass their boss in the White House.

Heavy Hand In City Affairs

Against the apparent wishes of the Omaha electorate and the solid opposition of Omaha city government, a bill requiring district election of an expanded Omaha City Council was reported out of the Legislature's government committee this week on a 6-1 favorable vote.

Omaha's council is presently made up of seven councilmen elected at large. The bill, sponsored by Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha, provides for a council of 12 members elected from geographic districts.

Chambers wants district election to "assure equitable representation" for all Omahans, including "some socioeconomic segments" of the community which now lack adequate representation. He mentions the Near North Side, which he says has never had a councilman, and South Omaha, which he claims is under-represented. Other proponents of the measure object to some recent decisions of the Omaha council — which in our opinion is a faulty reason for changing the makeup and method of electing any governmental body.

The merits of district election as opposed to at-large election are really beside the point, however. Other concerns should be discussed first, and they are tied together.

Proponents argue that the Omaha issue is of sufficient state-wide concern to allow legislative action. After all, the argument goes, approximately one-fifth of the state's population resides in Omaha. And the Legislature is pre-emptive in other municipal matters, such as granting the city authority to levy a sales tax. And it authorizes state funds for city use, so why shouldn't it have a hand in determining the method of electing city officials?

There seems to be little question that the Legislature can change the method of electing a city's council if it so desires. The question is, should it?

And that is tied to the desires of the people living in Omaha — or Lincoln — and their rights to determine their own representation in city government. It is a philosophic, or moral, question, rather than a legal one.

Not too long ago a petition plan to reorganize the Omaha council into six district and three at-large representatives was rejected by the Omaha electorate. They apparently are satisfied with the status quo. Lincoln, the state's second largest urban area, which has benefited from a fairly good geographic mix on its council under the at-large system, also is apparently satisfied with the status quo and its city government opposes Chambers' bill — for obvious reasons.

It's best that the Legislature allow the voters in Omaha or any other city to determine the method of choosing their council members.

N.E. Radial Opponents Vocal

Opposition to the long-proposed Northeast Radial is growing more vocal by leaps and bounds. How widespread or deep the opposition actually is cannot be accurately gauged at this point, but it is a proper subject for the city's consideration as planning for the radial continues.

As the opposition has become more vocal, it has also become more predictable in its rhetoric. For example, attorney John Stevens Berry's comment Thursday night at a Lancaster County Democrats meeting, Berry said among those who favor the radial, there are some "who think the greatest theological good is dropping the greatest glob of concrete on the city... like spaghetti."

That degree of flippancy doesn't give enough credit to a city government that is faced with an awfully hard decision.

The City Council, the mayor and city planners, we think, are sufficiently aware and appreciative of the environmental and socioeconomic arguments against the radial.

There always has been and always will be an impact on the environment when a city grows and has to keep pace with a mobile population. And this will not be the first public works project ever constructed in which people have been displaced and have suffered economic hardships. Unhappily, displacement and inadequate compensation of the few are part and parcel of growth — even planned, orderly growth.

City government is certainly aware of the problems. But it is faced with the practical problem of how to move expanding volumes of traffic to the northeast on an inadequate street system. The question of the Northeast Radial will ultimately have to rise or fall on the basis of transportation requirements — unless people change their life-style in short order.

Thunder On The Right

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has returned to Washington for the start of his second term, but instead of finding a spirit of rejoicing over this spectacular victory and elation over the impending cease-fire in Vietnam, he found many of his old supporters in a perplexed and critical mood over his recent conduct.

Here was Vermont Royster of the Wall Street Journal wondering gently why Nixon had been so remote and silent lately, especially since he had demonstrated his mastery over the presidential news conference. (He hasn't had a formal news conference since Oct. 5, a National Security Council meeting since last May or a cabinet meeting in two months).

James J. Kilpatrick, the conservative columnist of the Washington Star-News, was not so gentle. "In the past two months he (Mr. Nixon) has become more remote and in drawn than ever. Everything is sliding downhill. All the buoyant optimism of November now has washed away. Nixon, beginning Term Two, has made an unhappy start."

James Burnham, writing in the current issue of the conservative weekly, National Review, speaks of "the ruler's sense of frustration — the same frustration that engulfed his predecessor." He adds:

"Secretive, enigmatic, indirect, revolving more and more closely around the person of the ruler, palace intrigues within intrigues, periods of seeming stasis interrupted by furious outbursts of energy; the great lords with independent titles banished from court in favor of the ruler's bound liegemen; decisions taken in seclusion, and put into effect without explanation of premises or aims, even Henry Kissinger as a mod Rasputin."

Well, none of this would have been surprising coming from the President's critics in other papers but when Royster, Kilpatrick and Burnham write as above, it is clear that Nixon has lost something between the election and the inauguration.

The most impudent explanation of his recent unexplained area bombing of North Vietnam comes from his White House staff: The President was given a "mandate" in the election to carry on the war and the peace as he pleased, and besides, Harry Truman didn't consult anybody when he dropped those atom bombs on Japan.

The most charitable explanation is that he was, as he said himself, "emotionally drained" after the election, physically tired, and personally angry at the haggling in Paris over the peace terms — and ordered the bombing without the usual consultation even with his own staff while he was in one of these periods of gloomy frustration.

He explained his decision to make major changes in his administration by saying that he was afraid his first term "players" would go stale. There was always, he said, a tendency for an administration "to run out of steam after the first four years and then to coast, and usually coast downhill."

"I believe in the battle," Nixon said, "whether it's the battle of the campaign or the battle of this office, which is a continuing battle. It's always there wherever you go. I, perhaps, carry it more than others because that's my way."

You can read this any way you please, and the amateur and professional psychiatrists have been having a field day with the question ever since the President disappeared and started tossing the bombs around. Either he was tired or stale himself, as he feared his players would be, or he was determined to show everybody that he was going to be the boss, an active tough guy who would

They Had A Dream

If it had not been for Mrs. Rosa Parks, the world might never have heard of Martin Luther King Jr. Mrs. Parks, a Negro, was arrested for refusing to yield her bus seat to a white man, and her arrest altered Dr. King's destiny.

He had come to Montgomery, Ala., to serve as pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church. He wound up with a pastorate encompassing all of black America.

Outraged at Mrs. Parks' arrest, the Negro community organized the Montgomery Improvement Assn. and elected King as its president. The MIA staged a massive bus boycott which lasted 381 days and resulted in a desegregated bus system.

The victory was the first in the current civil-rights movement, and King's first step toward becoming its spokesman. After Montgomery, King and a group of Atlanta ministers formed the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, with King as its leader.

It was non-violent in principle and practice, in keeping with King's basic beliefs.

Born in 1929, King was the son of a minister. He was a gentle boy who would rather turn the other cheek than strike back. He also was bright. He skipped three grades and was graduated from high school at the age of 15 and from Morehouse College in Atlanta at 19.

Deciding to follow in his father's footsteps, King earned his Bachelor of Divinity degree at Crozer Theological Seminary in Chester, Pa., and in 1955 was awarded his Ph.D. at Boston University.

Then he moved to Montgomery with his bride to assume his post as pastor. He had scarcely arrived when the bus dispute erupted and the civil rights movement claimed him.

As SCLC's leader, King led non-violent protests all over the nation, disregarding his own safety. His own people criticized him. Black militants scornfully called him the "white man's best friend."

But King never wavered from his basic belief that love was the Negro's most powerful weapon. He preached it again and again, but perhaps most eloquently in this excerpt from a speech:

"I have a dream today... I have a dream that one day every valley shall be exalted, every hill and mountain shall be made low. The rough places will be made plain, and the crooked places will be made straight. And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together. This is our hope... With this faith we shall be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, to stand up for freedom together, knowing we will be free one day."

Dr. King's courage won the admiration of people all over the world. In 1964 it brought him the Nobel Prize for peace. Characteristically, he donated the $54,000 prize money to the civil rights cause.

In the end, Dr. King was the victim of the very violence he abhorred. In Memphis, Tenn., to lead a march of striking Negro garbage men, he was slain by an assassin's bullet at the age of 39 on April 4, 1968.

Language Habits

Lincoln, Neb.

Senator Ernest Chambers has admonished Unicameral members to refrain from allowing "racist" words and phrases to slip into their remarks. The example the senator reportedly used for illustration was "a black mark." "Let it be a white mark," he said.

In this matter, what kind of mark shall we give our senator? Presumptuous and self-righteously admonitory stances like his are more likely to sting people to perversity than to refine their humanity or reform their language.

Note too that Chambers' censorious attitude is a classic illustration of the point that liberals and leftists always claim to favor great tolerance and freedom but in practice would put all of us into the strait-jackets of their ideology.

Racism is regrettable, but so are cultivated self-consciousness, self-righteousness, humorlessness, and presumptuousness. And for all his social "sensitivity," the senator reveals a less than impressive sense of reality if he supposed he can alter the linguistic habits of a large and varied assembly.

To make matters worse, the phrase in question ("a black mark") has no connection whatever with race, a fact that makes the senator's boorish sermon all the more pointless. Furthermore, changing the phrase to "a white mark" merely reverses the direction of the "racism"; but the senator's new phrase, having no history behind it, is essentially unintelligible, anyway.

Heaven help our English tongue if it must now learn to submit to the censorship of self-conscious linguistic puritans like Senator Chambers. If they were to get their way, the plants, I suppose, might still be allowed to prefer a rich, black soil, but we'd have to beware of letting a white cat cross our path, and even on a white, gloomy day, a day as white as India ink, we'd have to remember to tell our children to brush regularly for shiny black teeth.

A Second Look

Lincoln, Neb.

This letter is in reply to that written by "Concerned for Wildlife" which appeared in the Jan. 19 Star.

I would like to say that there ARE others who were discouraged at the story of the young man and his interest in stuffing animals for a hobby.

In a time when many persons are giving both of their time and money in an effort to preserve the forms of wildlife that enhance the beauty of this earth, it is indeed disheartening to read of someone who is dedicated to killing some of those same endangered species for his own selfish pleasure. I fail to see the comparison between the beauty of wild creatures living as they were meant to live in freedom, and the "beauty" of dead things stuffed in someone's living room. I can't help but reverse the situation and wonder how it would be if the animals began stuffing us for their hobby.

It is admirable that Mr. Criswell is interested in a hobby for his spare time, but regrettable that his talents and energies haven't been channeled into a more constructive path. I can only hope that he will take a second, more mature and constructive look at his hobby and his goals, and reconsider.

Cruelty In Traps

Lincoln, Neb.

I am a member of the American Animal Protection Club and abhor the bone-crushing steel traps that spring shut on millions of wild animals each year in the United States. These animals die a slow, agonizing death from starvation, thirst, freezing, fear or gangrene. Many times the animal will actually chew or twist off its foot in a desperate attempt to save itself.

These beautiful wild creatures are killed primarily for their fur, few are used as food. Furs are a luxury item catering to our vanity but hardly necessary to our survival. From 40 to over 60 small animal skins are often used for a single fur coat. Consider the pain and suffering each coat represents. Traps account for 90% of the annual U.S. fur take. Only 10% are caught in more humane, instant-kill traps.

State laws regulating trapping are rarely enforceable. We are a nation who has put man on the moon. Yet we treat our fellow creatures with barbaric and primitive cruelty. It is time to redefine our values and end this abusive use of our wild animals.

VERA MAE KAHLER

Terrible Terry

Staplehurst, Neb.

I would like to know by what authority Senator Carpenter considers himself to be boss of the Legislature? What right does he have to put on more state employees at high salaries without putting it to a vote of his colleagues?

According to the Carpenter doctrine, economy is a naughty word. A $14 million field house isn't good enough. It must cost at least $18 million. The head of the Safety Patrol is to be removed because by Carpenter standards, he did not request enough spending money. Anyone who tries to hold down spending is called on the carpet and chided for trying to give the taxpayer a little consideration.

If the rest of our state senators continue to be intimidated by him, we could find ourselves stuck with a 30% income tax and a five per cent sales tax.

We should write our state senators and protest the wild extravagance that is being railroaded through our Unicameral. Carpenter was elected to represent only the people of Scottsbluff and should not be allowed to speak for the rest of us.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It was a rather disturbing story appearing in the news this week about eight individuals who faked schizophrenia and were never discovered as sane by doctors in mental hospitals. After gaining entry to the hospitals, the group then acted in as normal a fashion as possible.

The group was discharged after a short time, each bearing on his record the label "schizophrenia in remission." The experiment appeared to demonstrate the fact that determination of at least that form of mental disorder is a very uncertain thing.

Having been categorized, even incorrectly, the group of eight was unable to get the record set straight. Those who sponsored the experiment said that it raises serious questions about the validity of commitments for mental disorders.

In other words, how many people might be wrongly confined to mental institutions? On the other side, how many people who perhaps should be confined are not?

The experiment is one with which many people might take exception, on the basis that trickery is not a legitimate part of any kind of research. There is something to be said for this point of view but the situation leaves you rather uneasy, just the same.

Of course, the experiment does back up the fact that people have a tendency to make surface judgments of others. It is easy to look at and meet an individual and quickly decide what you think of him or her. You may decide the person is unfriendly, an extrovert, an optimist, truthful, dishonest or what have you.

It is more important, however, that one takes a little time to know another person before trying to judge him. The best course of action is not to judge at all but simply to accept people for what they are, but that demands a sense of humanity that not all people have.

Also, the experiment shows how difficult it can be to escape from any tag or label that may be hung upon you. This has been a serious problem with many minority groups in this country, being assumed to possess certain undesirable characteristics simply as a matter of heredity.

How many people attribute to blacks patterns of conduct or behavior based solely on the color of skin, a completely false thought process? Nearly any nationality of people is attributed with characteristics that are not at all a part of all descendants of that nationality.

Fat people are supposed to be happy, too, but what could being fat actually have to do with one's outlook on life or his personality, any more than any other physical characteristic might influence your attitude? Some people think eyes can identify a shift individual when there simply could be no such automatic correlation.

We are, of course, creatures of habit and this is what accounts for many of the really incorrect actions we take and determinations we make. We wonder if this would not be a factor in another area of medicine now being discussed in the State Legislature.

It is proposed that we set up in law a position of physician's assistant. The idea is one that is prominent throughout the country as a possible answer to the shortage of doctors.

No place is more short of doctors than the rural areas, thus giving the assistantship idea a lot of prominence in Nebraska. The theory is certainly a good one but you have to wonder if the plan would work very well in practice.

How many of a doctor's patients would accept the service of an assistant as opposed to that of the doctor? Perhaps there are enough situations in which there would be such assistance but people are not always as sensible as they might otherwise be when they need medical help.

Hughes Linked To Nixon Contribution

WASHINGTON — Two federal agencies investigating the elusive billionaire Howard Hughes have discovered, to their discomfort, tracks leading right up to the White House steps.

The Internal Revenue Service has turned up evidence that $100,000 was siphoned from the Silver Slipper, a Hughes gambling emporium, for Richard Nixon's 1968 campaign. And the Securities and Exchange Commission has learned that the President's brother, Don Nixon, played a part in Hughes' maneuvers to take over the airline, Air West.

The story of the $100,000 contribution was first noted on August 6, 1971. We reported that the gambling money was delivered by Richard Danner, a Hughes exec, to Bebe Rebozo, a Nixon confidante.

Our information was based on access to Hughes' private papers. On March 14, 1968, Hughes scribbled confidential instructions to Robert Maheu, then his chief honcho:

"I want you to go to see Nixon as my special confidential emissary. I feel there is a really valid possibility of a Republican victory this year." The phantom billionaire suggested that Nixon could win "under our sponsorship and supervision every inch of the way." We found no evidence, however, that Hughes sponsored the Nixon campaign beyond the $100,000 contribution.

Treasury agents came across the mysterious contribution as part of an investigation into Hughes' operations. They are looking into every financial deal and every expenditure that can be traced back to the billionaire.

Sources close to the investigation report that the Treasury men have questioned Danner, who now runs the Sands hotel-casino in Las Vegas for Hughes. Danner acknowledged delivering the $100,000 to Rebozo but claimed the money was intended for the GOP congressional campaign, say our sources. We also talked to Danner, but he refused all comment. Rebozo never takes our calls.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, meanwhile, is investigating reports that Hughes manipulated the stock of Air West to bring pressure on the directors to sell him the airline. Because the board was divided over whether to sell, it is alleged, Hughes persuaded some big stockholders to dump their stock, promising to make good their losses. This allegedly drove down the price of the stock, and the board in panic voted to sell.

SEC investigators learned that Maheu, in Hughes' behalf, made the first approach to Air West through Don Nixon. Maheu, summoned to Washington for secret questioning, acknowledged Nixon's role in the deal. He said that another Hughes executive, John Meier, had made the arrangements with Nixon, who had put Maheu in touch with a board member.

Maheu denied to the SEC, however, that the President's brother had been paid a finder's fee. Don Nixon's involvement with Hughes in the Air West deal could revive the old story about the $205,000 loan Don received from the billionaire back in 1956. The loan was secured by a mortgage on a small Whittier, Calif. lot that no bank would have accepted as security for a loan of that size. The loan, so far as we can learn, was never repaid.

We reached Maheu, who had no comment, but couldn't reach Don Nixon.

It will be interesting to watch, meanwhile, whether the IRS and SEC will be willing to go ahead with investigations that could embarrass their boss in the White House.

Language Habits

Lincoln, Neb.
Senator Ernest Chambers has admonished Unicameral members to refrain from allowing "racist" words and phrases to slip into their remarks. The example the senator reportedly used for illustration was "a black mark." "Let it be a white mark," he said.

In this matter, what kind of mark shall we give our senator? Presumptuous and self-righteously admonitory stances like his are more likely to sting people to perversity than to refine their humanity or reform their language.

Note too that Chambers' censorious attitude is a classic illustration of the point that liberals and leftists always claim to favor great tolerance and freedom but in practice would put all of us into the strait-jackets of their ideology.

Racism is regrettable, but so are cultivated self-consciousness, self-righteousness, humorlessness, and presumptuousness. And for all his social "sensitivity," the senator reveals a less than impressive sense of reality if he supposed he can alter the linguistic habits of a large and varied assembly.

To make matters worse, the phrase in question ("a black mark") has no connection whatever with race, a fact that makes the senator's boorish sermon all the more pointless. Furthermore, changing the phrase to "a white mark" merely reverses the direction of the "racism"; but the senator's new phrase, having no history behind it, is essentially unintelligible, anyway.

Heaven help our English tongue if it must now learn to submit to the censorship of self-conscious linguistic puritans like Senator Chambers. If they were to get their way, the plants, I suppose, might still be allowed to prefer a rich, black soil, but we'd have to beware of letting a white cat cross our path, and even on a white, gloomy day, a day as white as India ink, we'd have to remember to tell our children to brush regularly for shiny black teeth.

A Second Look

Lincoln, Neb.
This letter is in reply to that written by "Concerned for Wildlife" which appeared in the Jan. 19 Star.

I would like to say that there ARE others who were discouraged at the story of the young man and his interest in stuffing animals for a hobby.

In a time when many persons are giving both of their time and money in an effort to preserve the forms of wildlife that enhance the beauty of this earth, it is indeed disheartening to read of someone who is dedicated to killing some of those same endangered species for his own selfish pleasure. I fail to see the comparison between the beauty of wild creatures living as they were meant to live in freedom, and the "beauty" of dead things stuffed in someone's living room. I can't help but reverse the situation and wonder how it would be if the animals began stuffing us for their hobby.

It is admirable that Mr. Criswell is interested in a hobby for his spare time, but regrettable that his talents and energies haven't been channeled into a more constructive path. I can only hope that he will take a second, more mature and constructive look at his hobby and his goals, and reconsider.

Cruelty In Traps

Lincoln, Neb.
I am a member of the American Animal Protection Club and abhor the bone-crushing steep traps that spring shut on millions of wild animals each year in the United States. These animals die a slow, agonizing death from starvation, thirst, freezing, fear or gangrene. Many times the animal will actually chew or twist off its foot in a desperate attempt to save itself.

These beautiful wild creatures are killed primarily for their fur; few are used as food. Furs are a luxury item catering to our vanity but hardly necessary to our survival. From 40 to over 60 small animal skins are often used for a single fur coat. Consider the pain and suffering each coat represents. Traps account for 90% of the annual U.S. fur take. Only 10% are caught in more humane, instant-kill traps. State laws regulating trapping are rarely enforceable. We are a nation who has put man on the moon. Yet we treat our fellow creatures with barbaric and primitive cruelty. It is time to redefine our values and end this abusive use of our wild animals.

Staplehurst, Neb.
I would like to know by what authority Senator Carpenter considers himself to be boss of the Legislature? What right does he have to put on more state employees at high salaries without putting it to a vote of his colleagues?

According to the Carpenter doctrine, economy is a naughty word. A $14 million field house isn't good enough. It must cost at least $18 million. The head of the Safety Patrol is to be removed because by Carpenter standards, he did not request enough spending money. Anyone who tries to hold down spending is called on the carpet and chided for trying to give the taxpayer a little consideration.

If the rest of our state senators continue to be intimidated by him, we could find ourselves stuck with a 30% income tax and a five per cent sales tax.

We should write our state senators and protest the wild extravagance that is being railroaded through our Unicameral. Carpenter was elected to represent only the people of Scottsbluff and should not be allowed to speak for the rest of us.

Exon Says Current Taxes Enough For New Budget

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. J. James Exon Friday told the Legislature that state tax rates should be increased only to provide property tax relief for Nebraskans.

With that principle in mind, the governor presented lawmakers with his proposed state budget for fiscal 1973-74, a $563.4 million operational and $18.3 million capital construction package which could be financed at current tax rates.

But Exon said he will recommend a property tax relief plan which would push the state sales tax rate up from 2 1/2% to 3 1/2%, and trigger a proportionate increase in the state income tax rate.

The likely effect on the personal income tax rate would be a hike from 15% to 20%.

General Fund Boosted
Exon's proposed 9% increase in state tax-supported expenditures for operating funds would boost general fund spending from a current $209.7 million level to $227.8 million.

The $563.4 million all-funds recommendation compares with current spending of $533.8 million. Federal funding for operating expenses would jump almost $10 million to a $153.1 million total.

His budget, the governor said, was purposely "tailored to holding the line on the equivalent of state sales and income tax rates that were in effect in 1970."

Exon urged the Legislature to conserve most of the anticipated $31 million in federal revenue sharing funds (available by the conclusion of the 1973-74 fiscal year) for real estate tax relief.

The new federal revenue "should not be disintegrated by the financing of a host of pet projects," the governor said. Senators should "resist the temptation to consider revenue sharing as a bonanza that brings forth an opportunity for new spending sprees."

Incorporated into the budget are average 5.3% to 5.4% state employee salary increases based on an adjusted job classification and pay plan prepared by the state personnel office.

Pay Hikes Vary
The pay hike ranges from an average 8.9% for employees salaried at less than $7,000 a year to less than 1% for those salaried at more than $25,000.

The $227.8 million in general fund expenditures recommended by the governor compares to $228.1 million in anticipated revenue, leaving a bare $300,000 for new legislative programs.

The all-funds expenditures would devote 36.8% to education purposes, 30.3% for human resources, 20.2% for transportation and 12.7% for other categories, including general government expenses.

The biggest general fund user would be the University of Nebraska, which was granted roughly half of its tax support increase requested by the Board of Regents.

NU asked for $54.3 million; Exon recommended $50.8 million. Current expenditures are estimated at $47.5 million.

Due to "rather substantial drops in both enrollment and credit hours" at the four state colleges, Exon recommended a 3.5% reduction in total spending at Kearney, Chadron, Wayne and Peru.

Colleges Wanted More
The colleges requested $20.1

million from all funds; Exon recommended $17.7 million. Current spending is estimated at $18.2 million.

Exon's budget assumes a continuation of the current $35 million in state aid to public schools. The State Board of Education had requested an increase to $39 million.

Included in the $18.3 million capital construction budget is $8.7 million at the university. Lincoln campuses would be supplied with $7.3 million to fund a new College of Law, a life sciences building and a veterinary science structure.

Four million dollars in federal revenue sharing funds would be devoted to the latter two structures.

Exon proposed that $6 million in revenue sharing funds be used to finance the personal property tax exemption bill which, he pointedly noted, was enacted over his veto last year.

The remaining $21 million would be used for real estate tax relief, including full state funding of technical community colleges and educational service units, if the Legislature accepts Exon's forthcoming tax relief package.

Advance Plug Offered

In his budget message to the senators, the governor put in an advance plug for his proposal.

"Without going into detail at this time, I have the obligation to advise the Legislature that no plan for fair tax equity and equality will have my endorsement unless we level with the people and guarantee real, long-term relief which presupposes a reasonable and effective lid on school expenditures," Exon declared.

The school aid plan sponsored by the legislative study committee headed by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly "meets none of the tests that I have outlined," the governor said.

Rather, he suggested, it is "merely a warmed-over version of such legislation that I successfully vetoed in the last two sessions."

Any plan must include proportionate economic relief for renters, Exon said.

And, to receive his approval, he warned, a combination of school aid and property tax relief should not require an increase of more than 1% in the state sales tax rate and proportionate income tax hikes.

Exon said his budget would provide improvements in a number of programs, including assistance for the mentally retarded, improvements in penal programs and mental health care, and expansion of the State Patrol.

Tax Support Up 20

State tax support for community programs for the mentally retarded would be increased by 20%, the governor said. Community-based care would be expanded while a three-year capital construction program is launched to improve living conditions at the Beatrice State Home.

Exon also proposed increased decentralization of mental health services, while maintaining the current level of expenditures for the three regional centers (Lincoln, Hastings and Norfolk) despite a decrease in the number of patients.

Correctional facilities would be "upgraded" at York, Geneva and Kearney, the governor said, and he will provide the Legislature with later recommendations in reaction to penal reform study plans for the Penal Complex.

The budget would increase the strength of the State Patrol by 24 troopers, Exon said.

In addition to recommended salary increases for state employees, the governor noted, his budget would provide state participation in the purchase of health insurance and term life insurance for government workers.

NU State Funds Up 6.7%; General Fund Figures Given Regents Asked 14.5%

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Gov. J. James Exon's 1973-74 budget proposals for the University of Nebraska call for an increase in state funds for the institution of some $3.2 million, or about 6.7%.

That compares with a Board of Regents request for legislative appropriations reflecting a 14.5% increase.

Under Exon's recommendations, support from the state general fund would total some $50.7 million, compared with the $47.5 million state support in the current fiscal year.

Total $91 Million

The university's all-funds budget, excluding most federal project funds and self-supporting enterprises, would total $91.4 million, up from the current year's $84.6 million, or an increase of 8%.

In the all-funds category, the regents had sought an increase of 11.3%.

The Exon budget would also increase student tuition to rates slightly higher than those recommended by the regents, and it assumes room rate increases at the university hospital at the Medical Center in Omaha and revenue of another $800,000 in charges for physicians fees when specific doctors are not requested by patients.

Doctors who treat patients by request would continue to pocket their fees.

In capital construction matters, the governor is recommending for NU a total of $8.7 million, of which $4 million would come from federal revenue sharing funds.

NU has asked for $22.5 million in construction money.

More Than 12 Hours

The tuition increase or students would affect those who register for more than 12 hours. State Administrative Services Director Gus Lieske told reporters at a briefing Friday.

In effect, it would wipe away the so-called free hours (13 through 16) while retaining the rates of $18 per hour for residents and $48.25 for nonresidents.

The regents have recommended erasing the free hours, as well, but they proposed scaling back the rates for to $17 and $46 to lessen the impact of the increase.

Under the free-hours plan in use now, students who register for 13 to 16 hours pay the same total as they would if they were taking 12. They begin paying additional tuition at the 17th hour.

Pay Hikes State Plan

The governor's recommendation for salaries for university employees assumes pay increases according to the new state personnel and pay plan for many employees. Those increases would be as much as 8.9%.

Lieske said for colleges and the university, the pay increases would figure out to 3 1/2% for employees in the $10,000 to $15,000 range, plus another one per cent which the governing boards can use for salaries or other benefits.

In his budget message, Exon explained that his office cut the university's total request by $2.7 million from what the regents are seeking.

He said his request would mean a total university budget of $101.3 million, a figure that increases to $142 million when revolving fund accounts are figured in.

For purposes of comparison with former year's figures and the university's requests, the Star deleted from those figures the revolving funds and some federal funds.

What's left are the accounts related directly to the university's educational and general expenses.

Exon Opposes UNO Westward Expansion

Gov. J. James Exon's 1973-74 budget recommendations for the University of Nebraska contain a clear message for NU planners: revise plans for westward expansion of the UN at Omaha campus.

That was one of the messages contained in the capital construction budget which recommends appropriations for construction of three new buildings on the Lincoln campuses, none on the UNO campus and enough money to buy a home for the Pharmacy College on the Medical Center campus.

The total amount recommended was $8,706,877, compared with a university request of $22,575,000.

The three buildings he would recommend constructing in Lincoln are a new Law College, a scaled-back version of a life sciences building and phase one of a Veterinary Science Building.

The governor recommended no appropriations for a library at UNO or land acquisition there, he recommended holding off on construction of outpatient facilities at the Medical Center and he cut back by half the university request for $400,000 for a new classroom-lab at the Curtis School of Technical Agriculture.

Barn Endorsed

An $85,000 request for a barn at the North Platte Station was endorsed by Exon, who also recommended $350,000 for remodeling and renovation projects throughout the university.

The $500,000 request for land acquisition at UNO was rejected, according to budget documents, because "many people have long recognized that there are very attractive planning alternatives to campus sprawl."

"If the university would employ one of those alternatives, no additional land acquisition would be necessary," it said.

At a briefing, State Administrative Services Director Gus Lieske said the recommendation had no bearing on the controversy surrounding UNO westward expansion and he said it was not an outright rejection of the UNO master plan for continued expansion.

Rather, he said, it urged a re-evaluation of planning in light of current enrollment trends and the possibilities of downtown education centers in Omaha.

The Lincoln Life Sciences Building would be a $2.1 million project under Exon's plans, rather than a $5.9 million one.

Smaller Building

It assumes construction of a smaller building, renovation of Lyman Hall (which Pharmacy is vacating) to house additional life sciences and eventual renovation of Bessey Hall for the drama department.

Utility connections for the new building would be deferred until the 1974-75 budget year.

Here is a breakdown of the capital construction recommendations, showing the NU request and Exon's proposals:

1972-73 Governor Request	1973-74 Governor Request	1973-74 NU Request
$28,211,765	$30,449,412	$32,006,562
UNO	6,712,434	6,770,903
UNMC	9,753,913	10,171,199
U-Wide	3,031,419	3,417,405

In those figures, the Star combined all UNL (Lincoln) campuses and outstate) into one sum for comparison purposes. In the governor's budget, the School of Technical Agriculture in Curtis and Agricultural Extension and Research are separated into a separate budget category totaling $7,749,781.

The other designations are UNO for UN at Omaha, UNMC for the Medical Center and U-Wide for the UN System budget, which includes administrative expenses for the president, computer services and regents special projects.

NU was allotted $8.7 million of the total.

Other major recipients include the Department of Public Institutions, with $3,986,100, and the Game and Parks Commission, with $3,674,465.

Major construction at the university, all in Lincoln: College of Law, $3.1 million; life sciences building, $2,181,562; veterinary science building, $2 million.

No UNO Construction

No construction was recommended at the University of Nebraska at Omaha, and the bulk of the Medical Center's funding, some $500,000, would go to land acquisition.

Major institutional construction includes $1,773,000 for cottages for 200 at the Beatrice State Home and $563,900 for a new cottage and activities building for the Women's Reformatory at York.

Air conditioning at the Nebraska Veterans Home at Grand Island would cost $245,000.

No major new construction was recommended for the Penal Complex in Lincoln.

The bulk of funding for the Game and Parks Commission, some $2,930,500, would go for state aid to political subdivisions for the acquisition and development of outdoor recreation areas and facilities under the federal land and water conservation act.

State Colleges Breakdown

In the $947,870 allocation to state colleges is $300,000 for remodeling, renovation and furnishing for the administration building at Chadron and $387,689 to renovate the former budget by the Governor. There was a close scrutiny of priorities. Nothing has been slighted."

Numbers of Additions

The operating budget proposed by Exon features a number of additions in the law enforcement and penal area.

A nearly $1 million increase in the State Patrol's operating budget will permit the force to hire a total 22 new state troopers, a chemist and a criminologist.

The cost of 10 of those troopers will come from sales and income tax revenue, while six will be paid for through the federal highway safety funds. The money needed to pay the chemist, criminologist and the remaining six troopers will come from Crime Commission funds.

Board Expansion Urged

In addition, Exon has proposed that the State Pardons Board be enlarged from one full-time and two part-time members to three full-time and two part-time members.

Jacobson said that increase was part of Exon's penal reform package. He said a bill making the necessary statutory alterations will be introduced into the Legislature next week.

Also included in the budget bill are funds to pay the salaries of the additional district court judges authorized by the Legislature.

Maintenance Suffers

Maintenance at state parks has suffered in the last year for lack of funds. Trash removal had to be cut back as were mowing operations. Exon's budget bill provides for hiring temporary help during the state parks' busiest months to make better maintenance possible.

The Department of Revenue's budget was increased from $10.2 million to $17.1 million to handle the increased homestead exemption authorized by the 1972 Legislature.

The Department of Economic Development's budget request was also enriched by a $150,000 program to offer special training in industrial skills for Nebraskans in hopes of attracting industry to the state.

The funds, Jacobson said, would go for contractual services and would not be eaten up by increasing the department's staff.

Matching Funds Sought

"Hopefully, it will be matched by business and-or federal money," Jacobson said.

Some $160,000 of General Fund money would also be earmarked to match $480,000 in federal money to provide the state's Educational Television network with a color mobile unit. The network currently has an older black-and-white truck.

In terms of increased salary benefits for state employees, the budget allows $4.8 million for implementation of the state pay plan designed to bring equity to salaries of 13,000 full-time employees.

$8 Million Price Tag

Original estimates placed the price tag at $3 million. The increase would vary from 8.9 for employees on the lower end of the salary scale to .9 for those making in excess of $25,000.

Over and above normal pay increases," Jacobson said, "the cost of implementing the pay plan may be from a few hundred thousand to a million dollars."

A large number of department heads declined to comment on the Governor's recommendations saying they hadn't time to study his proposals.

A spokesman for the Roads Department called the cash fund recommendation submitted by Exon "a continuation budget living within revenue."

Although a look at budget

Cash Flow Indicated
Although a look at budget figures would suggest $2 million less would be spent next fiscal year, Comptroller Jack Pittman explained that the figures indicate cash flow and not the actual construction program.

The budget for fiscal 1974 would provide $97 million for construction obligation.

That would include comple tion of the remaining 2.6 miles of Interstate highway; grading and surfacing

Varner Says Budget To Slow Five-Year Plan

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Grand Island — University of Nebraska President D. B. Varner said Friday he believes Gov. J. James Exon's budget recommendations for NU "will not permit us to move as vigorously as we had hoped under the five-year plan."

"But clearly," said Varner, Exon's budget represents from the governor's viewpoint "a recognition and endorsement of what we're trying to do."

Varner was interviewed in Grand Island, where he was attending a meeting involving agricultural organizations which have proposed creation of an ag chancellorship for NU.

"Reacted Positively"

Asked for his view on the governor's budget recommendations, which were substantially less than the university had sought, Varner said he believes Exon has "reacted positively" to NU's efforts to strengthen quality. "I had hoped he would recognize the action of the Board of Regents in somewhat arbitrarily slashing $2 million from the budget we recommended for the courageous action it was and then accept that which seemed to me to be eminently reasonable."

The NU president said he was "particularly concerned about some of the revenue sources projected" in the Exon proposals and about the governor's capital construction recommendations.

Tuition Hike Seen
"I'm reluctant to see us impose on students the kind of tuition increase required under his recommendations, as I understand them," Varner said.

Varner said Exon's proposal would mean a student taking

VARNER... Exon 'reacted positively.'

16 hours would pay 33% more in tuition next year. "It's safe to say that would be the highest one-year increase in the history of this institution and maybe in the history of public higher education," he said. Students have already protested the tuition boost proposed by the regents.

Again referring to income items, Varner said he was also concerned about an $800,000 income item which would apparently come from fees to be paid for physician's services at the university hospital in Omaha.

More Exploration
"It warrants more exploration and discussion," he said.

On capital construction matters, Varner said he was pleased by Exon's recommendations for funding several projects on the Lincoln campuses, but he said he was worried about other aspects of the proposals.

"I'm not yet persuaded that his solution to the problem in life science is best for the long-range for the university and the state," he said, referring to Exon's plan to cut back the life science building plans and plan to remodel another building on the campus to make up the remainder.

"I'm frankly disappointed the governor did not recognize the critical needs at UNO," said Varner, referring specifically to land acquisition, a central power plant and a library.

And he said a "special problem" would be created at the Medical Center, which is counting on sufficient funds to match a federal grant for nursing facilities.

"Overall," said Varner, "I'm persuaded he does generally want this university to move as rapidly as possible to its goals."

"Unfortunately, in my judgment he did not provide the necessary funds to move on the schedule" envisioned in the five-year plan for excellence, said Varner.

Court: Land Belongs To Game Commission

By The Associated Press

The Nebraska Supreme Court, in a 4-3 decision, Friday decided that the State Game and Parks Commission should have title to a parcel of disputed railroad right-of-way land in Gage County.

The court's ruling said that Jerry and Julia Kozak had not sufficiently proved their right to hold title to the 154 acres, and thus upheld a Gage County District Court ruling which dismissed a suit by the Kozaks against the commission.

The land in question was given by the Rock Island Railroad to the Game and Parks Commission five years ago. The 1969 Legislature then enacted LB606, a law permitting the commission to sell the land to ranchers and farmers in Pawnee and Gage Counties.

Right-of-way to the land was originally granted to the Chicago, Kansas and Nebraska Railway Co. in 1886 and was then turned over to the Rock Island Railroad when that company succeeded the Chicago, Kansas and Nebraska.

At the time of the original takeover, the land was owned by George Kirby and the Kozaks' based their case on claims the land had been conveyed to various persons down through the years, including them on condition that the railroad eventually gave it up.

But Judge Harry Spencer, writing for the four-judge majority, said the Kozaks had failed to prove their title to the land.

Regardless of whether the Game and Parks Commission should own the land, said Spencer, the Kozaks had not proved their own right to title, and the burden of proof is on the plaintiffs in such cases.

"In an action of ejectment, when the plaintiff's testimony shows defendant in possession of the disputed lands under a claim of ownership, plaintiff must then recover on the superiority of his title," said Spencer, in a majority opinion joined also by Judges Robert Smith, Lawrence Clinton, and Hale McCown.

Dissenting were Chief Justice Paul White and Judges Leslie Boslaugh and John Newton. In a dissent written by White, the three contended the railroad had not acquired sufficient title to the land, holding the railroad only originally acquired an easement, and not ownership.

In other decisions Friday,

Overturned a Douglas County District Court jury award of $4,500 to John Graham against the Simplex Motor Rebuilders Inc. in a negligence action in which Graham was hurt on a job by a fall. The high court said the jury instructions were erroneous and ordered a new trial.

Affirmed the Lancaster County District Court dismissal of a suit by Donald J. Velt against Texaco Inc. in a case in which Velt claimed he was injured while working in a Texaco filling station.

Struck down a Scotts Bluff County District Court ruling which granted Ken Deans an injunction halting the construction and operation of a mobile home court operated by West Henings. The high court said a required zoning map had not been in effect because it was not published with the zoning regulations and thus the zoning was not in effect at the time the suit was filed.

Overturned a Holt County District Court ruling which gave possession of 30 mobile homes to Putnam Ranches Inc. instead of James Corkle. The high court said Corkle should have the cows.

Affirmed the Douglas County District Court conviction of Richard Keith on a burglary charge.

NU Spokesmen, Agriculture Leaders Narrowing Differences

Grand Island — Spokesmen for the University of Nebraska and a dozen agricultural organizations in the state left a meeting here Friday saying they had narrowed considerably their differences on the organization of the agricultural component of NU.

Still at issue, however, was the matter of whether the administrative head of agriculture would sit in the highest councils of the university, reporting directly to NU President D. B. Varner and the regents, or whether he would be a Lincoln campus administrator answering to UNL Chancellor James Zumberge.

An attempt to resolve that issue, which remained a major one, will be made at a meeting in Lincoln next Friday when a smaller group will gather to discuss it.

Much of the discussion at the meeting, arranged by the Agricultural Builders of Nebraska centered on a revised plan from Zumberge to establish a vice chancellorship for agriculture and a legislative proposal to require the regents to appoint a chancellor for a new Agricultural Center.

Zumberge's revised plan would create a Lincoln campus Division of Agriculture which would maintain administrative and policy ties with all three components of the current College of Agriculture — teaching, research and extension.

The division, which would include research and extension, would be headed by a vice chancellor who would provide "leadership for all agricultural affairs" in UNL and also "provide advice and counsel for the president and the Board of Regents on agricultural matters."

A dean of the College of Agriculture, which would include the present ag teaching programs and the Curtis School of Technical Agriculture, would report to the UNL vice chancellor for academic affairs "for budget and program purposes."

But the dean would also be charged with "coordination of budget and program philosophy with the vice chancellor for agriculture."

Specific mention of that coordination was missing in an earlier Zumberge compromise plan, which some ag spokesmen had feared would split the three components of the ag function.

The new plan would also provide for faculty status in the Division of Agriculture for all staff members in extension, research, the College of Agriculture and the Curtis school.

Acting Ag Dean Howard Ottoson, interviewed after the meeting adjourned, said he believes the new plan is "workable and feasible and goes a long way to meeting the concerns indicated here."

Some farm organization spokesmen were not so sure, however.

As the meeting neared adjournment, past Nebraska Farm Bureau President Roland Nelson of Mead asked if the vice chancellor for agriculture would continue to work through the Lincoln campus chancellor or whether he would have direct access to the president and the board.

When told he would still report to the chancellor, Nelson suggested, "This is one of the main issues we're hung up on."

Some other issues seemed to fade a bit during the discussion, especially when the farm spokesmen said they had no intention of "divorcing" the ag component of the university from the non-ag functions in the Lincoln campus.

But Regent Robert Raun, a Minden farmer, who chairs a regents committee on the issue said he believes creation of a separate chancellor would bring with it difficult problems on how non-academic services and non-ag course would be provided for agriculture students.

"There'd be some (new) bureaucracy in the service area you couldn't avoid," cautioned Raun, reminding the group of about 50 that the regents are under continuing criticism for "administrative overreach."

Farm organization leaders also questioned whether an internal reorganization would provide the permanency they are seeking in a legislative bill to create an Ag Center.

Varner said he would not object to writing the ag vice chancellorship into law and detailing the organization in appendices to the regents bylaws.

The NU president also suggested that a check could be provided on how well the new organization worked by upgrading the current citizens' advisory council to the ag dean to an advisory body for the UNL chancellor, the NU president and the regents.

Comprehensive Plan Funding Okayed

By GORDON WINTERS

Star Staff Writer

The State Crime Commission Friday approved the budgeting of $3.8 million in federal funds for the commission's 1973 Comprehensive Plan and approved goals for nine program areas in the plan.

Most of the discussion during the commission's meeting in Lincoln centered around the goals, which were approved by a vote of 5 to 3 with 2 abstentions.

Several Commission members objected to stating the goals as efforts to increase or decrease certain statistics, such as reducing the crime rate by 5% annually through preventative programs.

Other Goals Listed

Some of the other goals tied with statistical levels included proposals to reduce the incidence of burglary and robbery by 15% within three years and reducing illegal narcotics activity by 20% within three years as measured by records of treatment facilities and law enforcement agencies.

"This statistics game is asinine," said commission member Michael Jackson, of Omaha. "I think everyone wants to reduce crime and improve personnel, but to tie it in with statistics we pull from here and there is ridiculous."

Member Gavon Kuchel said that instead of setting a goal of reducing the incidence of burglary or robbery by a certain percentage, it might be better to say the goal would be raising the arrest rate.

Yardstick Questioned

What are you measuring it (law enforcement efforts) against, he said.

"It's not only not perfect, it's worthless," Bennett Hornstein said of stating the Hornstein said of stating the goals as efforts to improve statistics.

Harris Owens, director of the State Crime Commission, said that the discussion of the attainability and the measurability of goals is very interesting and that he is planning to attend a meeting in Washington on the subject.

There was little discussion on the budgeting of the $3.8 million for the 1973 Comprehensive Plan but Kuchel noted that only $20,000 was allocated to research. He said work in this area could possibly do the most to upgrade the criminal justice system.

The nine major program areas for which goals were set and the amounts budgeted to those areas are: upgrading the criminal justice system—$827,000; research and information systems—$20,000; prevention—$316,000; detection and apprehension—$12 million; diversion—$73,000; adult education—$321,000; institutional rehabilitation—$814,000; non-institutional rehabilitation—$147,000; legislation—$35,000.

In other steps, the commission's general review com-

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Mother, 84, Is Happy In Home For Elders

By ROBERT PETERSON

This column has long maintained that group residences for older people are the ideal housing solution for folks who no longer feel up to the demands of operating their own homes or apartments.

This conclusion is reinforced by the fact that my 84-year-old mother has recently completed her first year in such a residence.

Until three years ago she was mentally alert and highly independent. She lived alone and liked it in a two-bedroom home in the Midwest — filling her days with friends, church activities, personal tasks and a wide correspondence.

Then, gradually, she developed memory problems and seemed to be losing energy. Some of her friends told me she had slipped into the "senior citizens' snare," that is, going to a home for the aged. But she wouldn't hear of it. She said she would live on her own as long as she could.

She found herself forgetful about paying bills, answering letters and handling routine business matters. And for the first time in her life she was apprehensive at night, wondering if she was really safe in her house and what might happen if she had a stroke or a heart attack while she was alone.

Then one day her doctor told her she was suffering from mild dementia. She was told to keep up with her mind-stimulating activities and to try to remember as efficiently as she had before. He also said she was suffering from mild malnutrition. He told me quite firmly that she needed to be in a residence where she would be relieved of responsibilities where meals would be provided and where there would be assistance as required.

Upon her release from the hospital a few weeks later, I drove her to a residence for older people operated by the church to which she belonged all her life. We met the director, looked at the guest rooms and had lunch in the dining room. The director said she could come in on a trial basis. So she agreed.

Now there's a year now and loves it. She's sold her home and her only household chores now are tending the plants in her room. She's taking the regular meals and the health and vitality have returned. And she's got her old friends and has many new ones.

There's a home plan which is a special service center for older people. There's a lot to be learned from the experience of those who wish to live in a home for the aged. It's not a medical care facility. It's a place where the elderly can live and be well.

It's a place where the elderly can live and be well. It's a place where the elderly can live and be well. It's a place where the elderly can live and be well.

It's a place where the elderly can live and be well. It's a place where the elderly can live and be well. It's a place where the elderly can live and be well.

Varner Says Budget To Slow Five-Year Plan

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer
Grand Island — University of Nebraska President D. B. Varner said Friday he believes Gov. J. James Exon's budget recommendations for NU "will not permit us to move as vigorously as we had hoped under the five-year plan."

"But clearly," said Varner, Exon's budget represents from the governor's viewpoint "a recognition and endorsement of what we're trying to do."

Varner was interviewed in Grand Island, where he was attending a meeting involving agricultural organizations which have proposed creation of an ag chancellorship for NU.

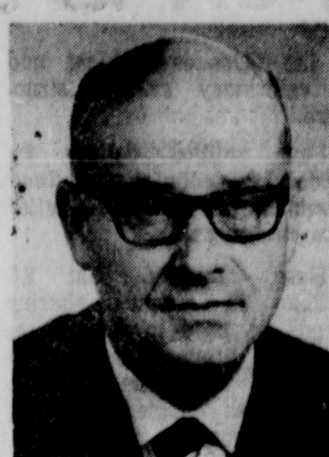

'Reacted Positively'
Asked for his view on the governor's budget recommendations, which were substantially less than the university had sought, Varner

said he believes Exon has "reacted positively" to NU's efforts to strengthen quality. "I had hoped he would recognize the action of the Board of Regents in somewhat arbitrarily slashing $2 million from the budget we recommended for the courageous action it was and then accept that which seemed to me to be eminently reasonable."

The NU president said he was "particularly concerned about some of the revenue sources projected" in the Exon proposals and about the governor's capital construction recommendations.

Tuition Hike Seen
"I'm reluctant to see us impose on students the kind of tuition increase required under his recommendations, as I understand them," Varner said.

Varner said Exon's proposal would mean a student taking

VARNER... Exon 'reacted positively.'

16 hours would pay 33% more in tuition next year. "It's safe to say that would be the highest one-year increase in the history of this institution and maybe in the history of public higher education."

He said students have already protested the tuition boost proposed by the regents.

Again referring to income items, Varner said he was also concerned about an $800,000 income item which would apparently come from fees to be paid for physician's services at the university hospital in Omaha.

More Exploration
"It warrants more exploration and discussion," he said.

On capital construction matters, Varner said he was pleased by Exon's recommendations for funding several projects on the Lincoln campuses, but he said he was worried about other aspects of the proposals.

"I'm not yet persuaded that his solution to the problem in life science is best for the long-range for the university and the state," he said, referring to Exon's plan to cut back the life science building plans and plan to remodel another building on the campus to make up the remainder.

"I'm frankly disappointed the governor did not recognize the critical needs at UNO," said Varner, referring specifically to land acquisition, a central power plant and a library.

And he said a "special problem" would be created at the Medical Center, which is counting on sufficient funds to match a federal grant for nursing facilities.

"Overall," said Varner, "I'm persuaded he does generally want this university to move as rapidly as possible to its goals."

"Unfortunately, in my judgment he did not provide the necessary funds to move on the schedule" envisioned in the five-year plan for excellence, said Varner.

Court: Land Belongs To Game Commission

By The Associated Press
The Nebraska Supreme Court, in a 4-3 decision, Friday decided that the State Game and Parks Commission should have title to a parcel of disputed railroad right-of-way land in Gage County.

The court's ruling said that Jerry and Julia Kozak had not sufficiently proved their right to hold title to the 154 acres, and thus upheld a Gage County District Court ruling which dismissed a suit by the Kozaks against the commission.

The land in question was given by the Rock Island Railroad to the Game and Parks Commission five years ago. The 1969 Legislature then enacted LB606, a law permitting the commission to sell the land to ranchers and farmers in Pawnee and Gage Counties.

Regardless of whether the Game and Parks Commission should own the land, said Spencer, the Kozaks had not proved their own right to title, and the burden of proof is on the plaintiffs in such cases.

"In an action of ejectment, when the plaintiff's testimony shows defendant in possession of the disputed lands under a claim of ownership, plaintiff must then recover on the superiority of his title," said Spencer, in a majority opinion joined also by Judges Robert Smith, Lawrence Clinton, and Hale McCown.

Dissenting were Chief Justice Paul White and Judges Leslie Boslaugh and John Newton. In a dissent written by White, the three contended the railroad had not acquired sufficient title to the land, holding the railroad only originally acquired an easement, and not ownership.

In other decisions Friday, the court:

— Overturned a Douglas County District Court jury award of $4,500 to John Graham against the Simplex Motor Rebuilders, Inc., a negligence action in which Graham was hurt on the jury instructions, were erroneous and ordered a new trial.

— Affirmed the Lancaster County District Court dismissal of a suit by Donald J. Viet against Texaco, Inc., in a case in which Viet claimed he was injured while working in a Texaco filling station.

— Struck down a Scotts Bluff County District Court ruling which granted Ken Deans an injunction halting the construction and operation of a mobile home court operated by West-Hennings. The high court said a required zoning map had not been in effect because it was not published with the zoning regulations, and thus the zoning was not in effect at the time the suit was filed.

MISS KAREN WARD

Of special interest to Greek letter circles at Nebraska Wesleyan University as well as to campus circles at the University of Nebraska is the announcement made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Ward of Grand Island, of the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lou, to Clark W. Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Reese also of Grand Island.

Saturday, Aug. 25, is named as the wedding date.

Miss Ward is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Delta Zeta sorority, and where she majored in sociology. She now is a student nurse at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Reese is a senior in the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Park Valley Heights Patrician Heights Meadow Lane

Although it may not be as readily apparent as at other times during the year, winter brings with it its own special kind of variety. The most striking example, of course, is the variety of weather that Nebraskans have been experiencing during recent weeks. The seasonal snowstorms that occurred not too long ago, suddenly were replaced by warm, spring-like days that saw the thermometer reaching well into the 50's. However, we have a feeling that Old Man Winter has not yet left the scene; and it will be just a matter of time before he once again asserts himself.

Variety has also been the key-note of late as far as suburban social activities are concerned. Lincoln residents have been traveling, entertaining and attending parties — leaving little, if any time, for mid-winter boredom to set in.

If our news from Suburbia this morning is any indication, the activities will continue throughout the weekend-at-hand, and one of the busiest places in Lincoln this evening will be the Patrician Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kahler.

Later today, Mr. and Mrs. Kahler and children, David and Mark, will host a farewell party honoring a family who will leave Lincoln next week for a new home in Portland, Ore. Gathering to say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paulsen and children, Gary, Lynette and Marcia, will be a group of their neighborhood friends.

The get-together at the Kahler home will be highlighted by a buffet supper, and we understand that the Kahler children have some special entertainment planned for the other youngsters who will be taking part.

Travelling to Missouri last weekend were Park Valley Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Linneman. Mr. and Mrs. Linneman visited with Mrs. Linneman's father, Herman Wilmes, who is hospitalized in Maryville.

A one-day-early birthday celebration will take place this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sheldon, who make their home in the Meadow Lane neighborhood. The guest of honor at the festive event will be Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon's daughter, Miss Kristi Sheldon, who will observe her 12th birthday on Sunday, Jan. 21.

On hand to help Kristi celebrate will be Lorie Davidson, Angela Turner, Terri Miller, Marianne Critchlow and Cheryl Gates.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon, Kristi and her brothers, Mark and David, will travel to Omaha for a birthday dinner which will take place at the home of Kristi's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marvel. Also included on the guest list will be the young lady's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sheldon who also reside in Omaha.

Although most people choose to take their vacations during the summer months there are quite a few individuals who prefer to do their traveling during the less-busy winter season. Recently returning to Lincoln following a three-week sojourn in Indiana were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman spent their vacation in Indianapolis, where they were guests at the home of their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hoffman and family.

They were especially happy to make the acquaintance of their newest grandchild—David Alan Hoffman—who made his world debut on Friday, Dec. 1.

While in Indianapolis, they also called on Mr. Hoffman's uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hoffman.

The Lincoln travelers returned home on Sunday, Jan. 14.

MISS JULIE LORCHICK

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lorchick make announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Julie Marie, to Michael Ohlswager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ohlswager.

The wedding is planned for Wednesday, Feb. 14.

Here Is How You Can Keep The Ding-a-ling Wagon Away

Women, it would seem, are supposed to be the guardians of every "must save" item in the home. It is the woman who must know where the birth certificates, the passports, the insurance papers, the tax receipts, deeds, auto titles, marriage certificates, military papers and on and on. You name it, and the lady of the house must be able to put her fingers on each and every one at a moment's notice.

That is much easier said than done. More often than not, milady is on the verge of a nervous collapse before the search is ended.

Patricia McCormack of the United Press International has the ideal solution which she, in turn, learned from the experts. Here is her advice to the feminine keepers of records.

Homefront, U.S.A. — This day you are a candidate for a ride in the ding-a-ling wagon — on the verge of a breakdown!

Your son needs his birth certificate, your husband wants his army discharge papers, the new pediatrician wants a precise record of shots given your preschool children while you lived in a town two states away.

You looked in the hatbox where you keep valuable papers. You examined that big brown bag of vital records you keep in the dresser drawer. Like an inch-worm you went through all those pieces of paper kept in the shoe-box labeled "do not discard." With the same attention to detail, you fingered records kept in a cigar box kept within the big closet in the master bedroom and looked through the shopping bag labeled "current important papers."

The reason you're upset, you couldn't find the things you sought. By writing to proper agencies, you can get copies of records on the "wanted" list. But it takes time. It probably will cost money — a fee here and a fee there.

There is a better way to file your personal records. You don't need a certified public accountant to help you out of the current dilemma. To toss or not to toss and where to toss is something you can't resolve and that, among other reasons, may be why you have so many things stashed in so many different places.

Help in the form of a plan that should serve most families comes from economists at the Continental Bank in Chicago. In its newsletter, "The Family Banker," Continental tells how to start a personal, planned record-keeping system. Begin with just three basic storage areas.

—A safe deposit box
—A home desk or file drawer
—An attic or basement dead-storage chest

Things go into various places according to the following plan:
—Safety deposit box: permanent personal documents to be kept indefinitely: birth, death, marriage, adoption, education, divorce, military papers. To be kept until sold or superseded, then to dead storage, stock and bond certificates, real estate deeds, auto titles, important insurance certificates. To be kept until final disposition, then to dead storage: legal papers in general. To be kept until superseded: original (signed) wills.

—In home desk or file drawer: unpaid bills, separate file until paid, paid bill receipts, three years; current canceled checks, income tax roughs, records of other taxes paid or assessed — three years, then to dead storage. To be kept current indefinitely: employment records, details on employee benefit programs, inventory of all items in safe-deposit box; list of all credit cards, by company name and address, and card number; list of insurance policies by company name, policy numbers; copies (unsigned) of wills, for reference use only; family health records, appliance warranties and operating instructions.

—In dead storage chest, superseded legal papers, old canceled checks, old income tax roughs and support for deductions, other tax records. Time to keep in dead storage, indefinitely.

The reason to keep tax roughs and records indefinitely: the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) can audit you for any reason up to three years after filing. The (IRS) can go even further back if there is reason to believe you have substantially underpaid taxes.

Also, you never know when it may be important to determine what you paid for something in past years, where you bought it, or what the precise purchase date was. In the event of theft of some valuables from the homefront, most certainly such information will be needed for insurance claims.

There is something else you should add to complete record-keeping — and store in the safe deposit box — pictures of your valuables with a description of each and serial numbers, if any. In the event of loss, from natural catastrophe or theft, the pictures help establish ownership and give some obvious proof of the quality of the item.

Church Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Karen Reinschmidt of Stillwater, Okla., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reinschmidt of Clinton, Okla., and Dr. Donald J. McGurk of Weatherford, Okla., son of Mr. and Mrs. John McGurk of Lincoln, took place on Sunday, Dec. 31, at Peace Lutheran Church near Clinton.

Miss Pamela Reinschmidt was her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Debra Reinschmidt, also a sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid.

James McKee of Lincoln served Dr. McGurk as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included Dr. Stewart Burchett of Weatherford, Okla.; Curtis Dick and Darrel Stehr, both of Clinton, Okla.

Following a honeymoon trip to New Orleans, Dr. McGurk and his bride will reside in Weatherford, Okla.

The bride is a graduate of Southwestern State College at Weatherford, and now is working toward an advanced degree at Oklahoma State University at Stillwater. Dr. McGurk is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and received his doctorate from Oklahoma State University at Stillwater. He now is a member of the faculty at Southwestern State University where he is an associate professor of chemistry.

Luncheon Planned

The members of the American Association of University Women will have a 12:30 o'clock luncheon at the Nebraska Club on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 20.

The program will be presented by Dr. Bernice Slote, who is associated with the English Department at the University of Nebraska. Dr. Slote will discuss the works of Willa Cather.

Mrs. Wayne Grubb was in charge of the committee which made arrangements for the luncheon meeting.

During the business meeting, the AAUW members will discuss the $500 fellowship which was given to the organization by the late Mary Roquar, who was a member of the local chapter. The fellowship is to be administered by Dr. Anne Campbell, who currently is serving as the president of the national AAUW.

Plans also will be made for a campaign to obtain monetary gifts from each member to increase the fellowship which will be presented to a doctorate candidate.

Friday Wedding

At a 7 o'clock ceremony on Friday evening, Jan. 19, the wedding of Miss Linda Worm, daughter of Mrs. Delbert Worm of Ashland, and Vernon Worm of Waverly, and Wesley M. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Allen of Lincoln, took place at the Capitol City Christian Church. The service was solemnized by the Rev. Robert P. Chitwood.

Miss Patricia Elam was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Rita Allen, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Yvonne Worm, sister of the bride.

Michael Allen served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included Steven Carr, Kenneth Worm, Vernon Worm, Jr., both of Ashland, and James Jones.

The gown worn by the bride was in the Empire mode and was fashioned of white satin accented with lace. The lace, which banded the high collar of the fitted bodice and cuffed the long sleeves was repeated in a wide panel, inset with satin ribbon, from the neckline to the hem of the silhouette skirt which was completed with a lace bordered train. Her veil of illusion was held in place with a crown of pearls, and she carried a bouquet of yellow and white Sweetheart roses.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to Missouri, Mr. Allen and his bride will reside at 5054 No. 72nd St., in Lincoln.

ABBY

try ladylike behavior and good grooming

DEAR ABBY: I am a single girl 24 years old, and people are always telling me how beautiful I am, mainly because I have a good figure (I'm 36-25-36). No single girl wants to pal around with me because if a guy is anywhere around, I'm the one who gets the attention. Married women don't trust me either although I've never dated a married man in my life.

Abby, what I need is a man, but a guy takes one look at me and figures with all I've got going for me I must have been with lots of guys (I've been with a few, but not that many).

I am so lonesome, you wouldn't believe it. So where do I look for friends? Not at work. The females are so jealous they would tear me apart like wolves. Not at bars because men get the impression that I'm good for a one-night stand, and that's not what I want. I'm going crazy. I need friends! Sign me.

THE LONELIEST
GAL IN TOWN

DEAR LONELY: You seem much too preoccupied with your looks. Beauty has never been a liability, so if girls mistrust you and men misjudge you, you'd better take a good long look at your packaging. If you look, dress and act like a lady with all you have going for you, you will be the busiest gal in town, not the loneliest.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl who has never had a real date. I have been fixed up a few times, but it's never panned out.

Well, this one guy started to come over and hang around. He's sort of weird. He's 24, not bad looking, and does construction work. He comes here and keeps looking at my mother. She is a widow, 39 years old, and is a nice looking woman, but she has her own friends and isn't interested in this kid. He keeps making cracks, like, "Older women are more experienced."

I don't know what to make of him. My mother says I should encourage him a little, but I don't believe in leading a guy on unless I intend to put out, which I will not do because I believe in God and virtue and I don't want to be shopworn by the time I'm married.

So what do you suggest?
INEXPERIENCED

DEAR INEXPERIENCED: The kind of "experience" this weirdo is looking for is definitely not your style. Stick to your principles and don't waste any more time with the likes of him. You're more apt to find your type of fellow hanging around church. Seek, and ye shall find!

DEAR ABBY: My life is a nightmare with my jealous husband. We have tried everything from marriage counselors to psychiatry, but to no avail.

He does not trust me out of his sight and it is all so foolish because I have no interest in any other man and never have had.

My only hope seems to be a chastity belt. Can you please tell me where to send for one? I am 53 and my husband is 70 and he has been like this for the last three years.

This is a serious request. Please rush your answer. Whatever the price it will be worth it. Thank you.

Two diamonds said, "Tell me more," and two notrump indicated strength in two of the three side suits. Three diamonds asked which suits, and three spades said spades and diamonds. Four notrump asked for a further description of the values held and five diamonds showed the king. Having learned all he needed to know, Sharif now bid seven clubs.

West led a heart and Belladonna went up with the ace, drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the king of diamonds, and led the jack. West ruffed, returned a heart, and Belladonna went down two. Actually, he could have made the hand by adopting a clearly inferior line of play, but he chose a better method and went down.

When the former world champions, Kreyns and Slavenburg, were North-South for Holland, they also reached seven clubs — but here West led the spade ten. This seemingly innocuous lead had an enormous effect on the result.

Slavenburg won with the jack, drew three rounds of trumps, cashed the K-A of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, played a spade to the king, and ruffed another diamond to establish the suit. He still had the ace of hearts as an entry to dummy, and so made the grand slam.

MISS KAREN WARD

Of special interest to Greek letter circles at Nebraska Wesleyan University as well as to campus circles at the University of Nebraska is the announcement made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Ward of Grand Island, of the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lou, to Clark W. Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Reese also of Grand Island.

Saturday, Aug. 25, is named as the wedding date.

Miss Ward is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Delta Zeta sorority, and where she majored in sociology. She now is a student nurse at Bryan Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Reese is a senior in the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Park Valley Heights
Patrician Heights
Meadow Lane

in the suburban areas

Although it may not be as readily apparent as at other times during the year, winter brings with it its own special kind of variety. The most striking example, of course, is the variety of weather that Nebraskans have been experiencing during recent weeks. The seasonal snowstorms that occurred not too long ago, suddenly were replaced by warm, spring-like days that saw the thermometer reaching well into the 50's. However, we have a feeling that Old Man Winter has not yet left the scene, and it will be just a matter of time before he once again asserts himself.

Variety has also been the key-note of late as far as suburban social activities are concerned. Lincoln residents have been traveling, entertaining and attending parties — leaving little, if any time, for mid-winter boredom to set in.

If our news from Suburbia this morning is any indication, the activities will continue throughout the weekend-at-hand, and one of the busiest places in Lincoln this evening will be the Patrician Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kahler.

Later today, Mr. and Mrs. Kahler and children, David and Mark, will host a farewell party honoring a family who will leave Lincoln next week for a new home in Portland, Ore. Gathering to say good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paulsen and children, Gary, Lynette and Marcia, will be a group of their neighborhood friends.

The get-together at the Kahler home will be highlighted by a buffet supper, and we understand that the Kahler children have some special entertainment planned for the other youngsters who will be taking part.

Travelling to Missouri last weekend were Park Valley Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Linneman. Mr. and Mrs. Linneman visited with Mrs. Linneman's father, Herman Wilmes, who is hospitalized in Maryville.

A one-day-early birthday celebration will take place this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sheldon, who make their home in the Meadow Lane neighborhood. The guest of honor at the festive event will be Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon's daughter, Miss Kristi Sheldon, who will observe her 12th birthday on Sunday, Jan. 21.

On hand to help Kristi celebrate will be Lorie Davidson, Angela Turner, Terri Miller, Marianne Critchlow and Cheryl Gates.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon, Kristi and her brothers, Mark and David, will travel to Omaha for a birthday dinner which will take place at the home of Kristi's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Marvel. Also included on the guest list will be the young lady's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sheldon who also reside in Omaha.

Although most people choose to take their vacations during the summer months, there are quite a few individuals who prefer to do their traveling during the less-busy winter season. Recently returning to Lincoln following a three-week sojourn in Indiana were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoffman.

—In home desk or file drawer: unpaid bills, separate file until paid; paid bill receipts, three years; current bank statements, three years; current canceled checks, income tax roughs, records of other taxes paid or assessed — three years, then to dead storage. To be kept current indefinitely: employment records, details on employee benefit programs; inventory of all items in safe-deposit box; list of all credit cards, by company name and address, and card number; list of insurance policies by company name, policy numbers; copies (unsigned) of wills, for reference use only; family health records, appliance warranties and operating instructions.

The reason to keep tax roughs and records indefinitely: the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) can audit you for any reason up to three years after filing. The (IRS) can go even further back if there is reason to believe you have substantially underpaid taxes.

West led a heart and Belladonna went up with the ace, drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the king of diamonds, and led the jack. West ruffed, returned a heart, and Belladonna went down two. Actually, he could have made the hand by adopting a clearly inferior line of play, but he chose a better method and went down.

When the former world champions, Kreyns and Slavenburg, were North-South for Holland, they also reached seven clubs — but here West led the spade ten. This seemingly innocuous lead had an enormous effect on the result.

Slavenburg won with the jack, drew three rounds of trumps, cashed the K-A of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, played a spade to the king, and ruffed another diamond to establish the suit. He still had the ace of hearts as an entry to dummy, and so made the grand slam. Tall oaks from little acorns grow!

Aid Applications Due Feb. 1

Students planning to attend the University of Nebraska-Lincoln during the 1973-74 school year who are in need of financial assistance should make application before Feb. 1, 1973 in the office of scholarships and financial aids.

Application forms are available and should be completed and submitted to the College Scholarship Service before Feb. 1, according to John Ritchie, acting director of the office of scholarships and financial aids.

There are many changes in the federal programs for next year and money will be more difficult to secure so it is important that applications are in on time.

One of the changes will affect the students who will be applying.

insured loans, either through the state loan program or a local lending institution. Students applying for this type of loan only, and no other financial aid, must complete a parents or students financial statement as well as an application form.

We, too, are apt to mass together on occasion and to be, perhaps, a little ludicrous in our efforts to be "part of the scene." Sometimes following the leader may, indeed, be the best thing to do. But it can also be the easy way out.

Today, especially, we need the courage of our convictions. We need to stand up for what we truly believe in. We need to do the important things.

Airport Authority Board Bill Draws Opposition

By The Associated Press
A bill to place airport authority boards under the control of city councils drew opposition from city officials and airport authority board members Friday.

They appeared at a public hearing on LB22 before the Legislature's Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee. No action was taken on any of the four bills heard because the committee lacked a quorum.

Sen. Calvin Carsten of Avoca, who introduced LB22, contended that airport authority boards should be placed under the jurisdiction of the city council until all of the members have been elected.

Law Changed
A change in the law by the Legislature made airport authority jobs elective instead of appointed, but the change will not take effect completely for several years.

According to Carsten, in the meantime the boards should be accountable to city councils and therefore more accountable to the people, since the councils are elected.

The mayors of Seward and Nebraska City, in opposing the bill, said the airport authority boards are made up of responsible citizens and that their city councils did not want to take on the job of directing the airports.

Language Questioned
Charles E. Barney, an attorney representing the Lincoln Airport Authority said the language of the bill was too

Committee Asks Repeal Of Clause

By The Associated Press
The so-called "Wyoming clause" would be repealed under the terms of a bill introduced in the Legislature Friday by the interim study committee on pesticides.

The clause prohibits the State Environmental Control Council from adopting anti-pollution standards in Nebraska which are more strict than those of the federal government.

It was made part of the 1971 legislation creating the council and the State Department of Economic Development.

However, the clause has come under increasing fire from persons who contend it prohibits the state from protecting Nebraska's relatively clean environment from degradation. Enforcement is permitted only when pollution reached the federal level, designed for large metropolitan areas.

The bill, LB254, was introduced moments before Gov. J. J. Exon, in his "State of the State" address to legislators, urged repeal of the clause.

The committee was chaired by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, a strong backer of the clause when it was first written into law. However, Schmit has recently said he could support the repeal move.

Chambers Says Black NU Coed Denied Housing

By United Press International
State Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha told the Legislature Friday a black cheerleader at the University of Nebraska had been discriminated against while trying to obtain housing in Lincoln.

Chambers said after the girl was turned down and told an apartment had been rented, a white friend called the same number and was given an appointment to see the apartment.

Chambers said he was referring the matter to UN Athletic Director Bob Devaney. He said if some action wasn't taken, he would publicly reveal the name of the landlord involved.

Public Hearing Set On Request To Upgrade Road

A public hearing has been set for Feb. 16 on a request from a number of Crete-area residents who want a 9.5-mile stretch of county road north of Crete put on the state highway system.

The hearing was set by the State Board of Public Road Classifications and Standards Friday after the State Highway Commission turned the request down.

broad.

He said Lincoln and Omaha already have elected boards but that because of deaths and resignations they often have appointed members. Carsten's bill would require that city council's give approval to action by the airport authority boards whenever they included an appointed member.

John Auer, acting director of the Department of Aeronautics, offered several amendments to the bill intended to overcome such problems.

A bill to increase the number of State Patrol narcotics investigators, introduced by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, was also heard.

Aimed At Pusher
Sen. Schmit said the bill was aimed at the pusher of hard drugs who is making a profit, and not first offenders.

"We need to give the State Patrol enough money to do the job," Schmit said.

There were no witnesses either for or against the bill.

Another Carsten bill, LB22, would allow county boards to allocate money to more than one historical society in a county.

Proponents argued that more than one historical society could be supported by the one-tenth mill now permitted to be levied by each county.

The Nebraska Association of County Officials went on record opposing the change because they felt it would be difficult to determine how much should be allocated to each society.

Park User Fee Bill Introduced In Legislature

By The Associated Press
Motorists entering the Nebraska State parks would have to pay a fee under terms of legislation introduced in the Legislature Friday.

The annual permit, lasting for an entire year, would cost $15 while temporary permits would cost $1 and would be good for a single day.

The bill, LB255, was sponsored by the interim study committee on agriculture, and the concept of charging fees has been supported by commission staff members.

The revenue raised would be used to "better accommodate the increasing public use of the Nebraska state park system by providing improved operation and maintenance."

Bill Asks Life Term For Pusher

By The Associated Press
The Legislature was asked Friday to provide that any person convicted of selling hard drugs be sentenced to life in prison without possibility of parole.

No pleas to lesser charges could be accepted under the harsh terms proposed in LB261, sponsored by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood.

The bill was introduced shortly after Gov. J. J. Exon in a speech to lawmakers, called for stiff sentences for drug pushers.

Currently, persons convicted of selling hard narcotics, such as heroin, can receive a minimum of five years in prison or a maximum of 20.

Schmit would replace that sentence with a minimum of life without possibility of parole, suspended sentences, or pleas to lesser charges.

Bish Won't Seek A Second Term

Grand Island (AP) — State Republican party chairman Milan Bish said Friday he would not seek re-election.

Bish has been Nebraska GOP chairman for two years.

He made the announcement in a letter to the state central committee.

Bish said he was making the move because, "I must give priority to vocational aspirations and personal challenges."

Bish said he would announce his plans for the future "soon."

There have been rumors that he would be offered a sub-cabinet post in the second Nixon administration. Bish has neither confirmed nor denied the rumors.

Ft. Robinson Lodging Rate Increased

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission Friday increased the lodging rates at Fort Robinson to meet rising operational costs.

The revised rate schedule is:

- $6 (instead of $4) per day for a single room unit with a double bed.
- $8 (instead of $6) per day for a single room with twin beds.
- $30 (instead of $20) per day for a five-bedroom unit.
- $36 (instead of $24) for a six-bedroom unit.
- and $42 (instead of $28) for a seven-bedroom unit.

The commission also elected Bill Lindeken of Chadron as its new chairman succeeding Dr. Bruce Cowgill of Silver Creek whose appointment has expired.

The commission also set Feb. 23 as the date for a public hearing to set the 1973 hunting season.

Organizational Meeting Slated By Unmaskers

An organizational meeting of The Unmaskers, a new theatre group, will be at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the home of Virginia Hall, 2234 Woodcrest.

According to spokeswoman Betty Corea, the group is a coalition of members of the Women's Action Alliance, National Organization for Women and members of the Lincoln community.

"Many of the school textbooks and literature books portray girls and women as dull, passive and unimaginative," Ms. Corea said. "One of the purposes of the theatre group will be to provide girls with more positive role models and to raise their expectations about what they can be and what they can do."

Director, Chairman Express Disapproval Of Perez Tactics

The director and the chairman of the Nebraska Mexican-American Commission Friday expressed dissatisfaction with the tactics of Ramon Perez in Scottsbluff during the past week, insisting that Perez and his followers in no way represent the Chicano community.

Stan Porras and Nick Garcia said the commission does not support Perez's confrontation with Scottsbluff law officials.

"I know there's discrimination out there—I was born and raised there," Porras said.

"We agree with Ramon's wanting to change the system, but not his way."

"If change is to come, it can first only come from the Capitol, the seat of government. We're both looking for the same thing, but we have the commission and the lines of communication."

Garcia said there has been no indication that Perez has been successful in his efforts to improve the lot of Scottsbluff Chicanos.

The two commission leaders agreed with Perez that changes are needed in the local community action agency so that more is done for the Mexican-American community.

"The welfare board and the county commissioners out there better realize that there are people who need more help," Porras said.

Garcia predicted that the six-month-old commission's efforts will "bear fruit in the not to distant future," especially in the area of education.

"Stan has done a heck of a lot more in six months than those guys have done out there," Garcia said.

Airport Authority Board Bill Draws Opposition

By The Associated Press
A bill to place airport authority boards under the control of city councils drew opposition from city officials and airport authority board members Friday.

They appeared at a public hearing on LB22 before the Legislature's Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee. No action was taken on any of the four bills heard because the committee lacked a quorum.

Sen. Calvin Carsten of Avoca, who introduced LB22, contended that airport authority boards should be placed under the jurisdiction of the city council until all of the members have been elected.

Law Changed
A change in the law by the Legislature made airport authority jobs elective instead of appointed, but the change will not take effect completely for several years.

According to Carsten, in the meantime the boards should be accountable to city councils and therefore more accountable to the people, since the councils are elected.

The mayors of Seward and Nebraska City, in opposing the bill, said the airport authority boards are made up of responsible citizens and that their city councils did not want to take on the job of directing the airports.

Language Questioned
Charles E. Barney, an attorney representing the Lincoln Airport Authority said the language of the bill was too broad.

He said Lincoln and Omaha already have elected boards but that because of deaths and resignations they often have appointed members. Carsten's bill would require that city council's give approval to action by the airport authority boards whenever they included an appointed member.

John Auer, acting director of the Department of Aeronautics, offered several amendments to the bill intended to overcome such problems.

A bill to increase the number of State Patrol narcotics investigators, introduced by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, was also heard.

Aimed At Pusher
Sen. Schmit said the bill was aimed at the pusher of hard drugs who is making a profit, and not first offenders.

"We need to give the State Patrol enough money to do the job," Schmit said.

There were no witnesses either for or against the bill.

Another Carsten bill, LB22, would allow county boards to allocate money to more than one historical society in a county.

Proponents argued that more than one historical society could be supported by the one-tenth mill now permitted to be levied by each county.

The Nebraska Association of County Officials went on record opposing the change because they felt it would be difficult to determine how much should be allocated to each society.

Milan Bish

Bish Won't Seek A Second Term

Grand Island (AP) — State Republican party chairman Milan Bish said Friday he would not seek re-election.

Bish has been Nebraska GOP chairman for two years.

He made the announcement in a letter to the state central committee.

Bish said he was making the move because, "I must give priority to vocational aspirations and personal challenges."

Bish said he would announce his plans for the future "soon."

There have been rumors that he would be offered a sub-cabinet post in the second Nixon administration. Bish has neither confirmed nor denied the rumors.

Ft. Robinson Lodging Rate Increased

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission Friday increased the lodging rates at Fort Robinson to meet rising operational costs.

The revised rate schedule is:

—$6 (instead of $4) per day for a single room unit with a double bed.

—$8 (instead of $6) per day for a single room with twin beds.

—$30 (instead of $20) per day for a five-bedroom unit.

—$36 (instead of $24) for a six-bedroom unit.

—and $42 (instead of $28) for a seven-bedroom unit.

The commission also elected Bill Lindeken of Chadron as its new chairman succeeding Dr. Bruce Cowgill of Silver Creek whose appointment has expired.

The commission also set Feb. 23 as the date for a public hearing to set the 1973 hunting season.

Committee Asks Repeal Of Clause

By The Associated Press
The so-called "Wyoming clause" would be repealed under the terms of a bill introduced in the Legislature Friday by the interim study committee on pesticides.

The clause prohibits the State Environmental Control Council from adopting anti-pollution standards in Nebraska which are more strict than those of the federal government.

It was made part of the 1971 legislation creating the council and the State Department of Economic Development.

However, the clause has come under increasing fire from persons who contend it prohibits the state from protecting Nebraska's relatively-clean environment from degradation. Enforcement is permitted only when pollution reached the federal level, designed for large metropolitan areas.

The bill, LB254, was introduced moments before Gov. J. J. Exon, in his "State of the State" address to legislators, urged repeal of the clause.

The committee was chaired by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, a strong backer of the clause when it was first written into law. However, Schmit has recently said he could support the repeal move.

Chambers Says Black NU Coed Denied Housing

By United Press International
State Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha told the Legislature Friday a black cheerleader at the University of Nebraska had been discriminated against while trying to obtain housing in Lincoln.

Chambers said after the girl was turned down and told an apartment had been rented, a white friend called the same number and was given an appointment to see the apartment.

Chambers said he was referring the matter to UN Athletic Director Bob Devaney. He said if some action wasn't taken, he would publicly reveal the name of the landlord involved.

Public Hearing Set On Request To Upgrade Road

A public hearing has been set for Feb. 16 on a request from a number of Crete area residents who want a 9.5-mile stretch of county road north of Crete put on the state highway system.

The hearing was set by the State Board of Public Road Classifications and Standards Friday after the State Highway Commission turned the request down.

Park User Fee Bill Introduced In Legislature

By The Associated Press
Motorists entering the Nebraska State parks would have to pay a fee under terms of legislation introduced in the Legislature Friday.

The annual permit, lasting for an entire year, would cost $15 while temporary permits would cost $1 and would be good for a single day.

The bill LB255, was sponsored by the interim study committee on agriculture, and the concept of charging fees has been supported by commission staff members.

The revenue raised would be used to "better accommodate the increasing public use of the Nebraska state park system by providing improved operation and maintenance."

Bill Asks Life Term For Pusher

By The Associated Press
The Legislature was asked Friday to provide that any person convicted of selling hard drugs be sentenced to life in prison without possibility of parole.

No pleas to lesser charges could be accepted under the harsh terms proposed in LB261, sponsored by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood.

The bill was introduced shortly after Gov. J. J. Exon in a speech to lawmakers, called for stiff sentences for drug pushers.

Currently, persons convicted of selling hard narcotics, such as heroin, can receive a minimum of five years in prison or a maximum of 20.

Schmit would replace that sentence with a minimum of life without possibility of parole, suspended sentences, or pleas to lesser charges.

More Corn, Soybeans Will Be Planted In 1973

Washington (AP) — Farmers intend to plant 7% more corn and 5% more soybeans for harvest this year, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

Nebraska's indicated plant acreage of major crops for 1973 production and the percentage of acres planted in 1972, respectively, included:

Corn—6,020,000 acres and 106%.

Soybeans—890,000 acres and 118%.

Sorghums—1,337,000 acres and 97%.

The Crop Reporting Board said in a special report on spring planting intentions that the nation's farmers expect to seed 70.5 million acres of corn, compared with 65.6 million planted in 1972.

Soybean plantings will total about 48.8 million acres, up from 46.5 million last year.

The report was based on surveys made in 35 states which normally account for at least 97% of the nation's spring-planted crop production.

Earlier this week the department said corn production in 1972 totaled 5.47 billion bushels, down 3% from the record 1971 harvest of 5.64 billion.

Soybean production last year, subject to revision along with figures for corn and other feed, totaled a record of more than 1.27 billion bushels.

The Nixon administration, faced with rising consumer food costs and huge export demands for grain and oilseeds, wants to see crop production stepped up in 1973.

Accordingly, USDA holds revised crop acreage set-aside programs for 1973 in hopes farmers will boost output.

Negligence Lawsuit Is Filed In 1972 Fire At Syracuse

Nebraska City — Glenn O. and Norma J. Jourdan and Radio Communications of Syracuse filed a $65,747.29 suit against Harry Hauschild and Hauschild Ford Company of Syracuse in the District Court of Otoe County.

The negligence suit stems from the March, 1972, fire in Syracuse which destroyed the Hauschild Ford, Radio Communications and Reuter Shoe Store buildings on the west end of main street and did major damage to the West End Lounge.

In the suit the Jourdans claim that the fire and the damages to them "were proximately caused and brought about by the negligence of the defendant." Eleven specifics of that negligence are outlined in the petition.

The petition places a "fair and reasonable market value of $57,819.27" on the Jourdan property destroyed in the fire.

In addition, a judgment of $7,928.02 is asked for a loss of profits suffered "as a further direct and proximate result of the negligence of the defendant."

Curtis Among Sponsors Of New Farm Legislation

Sen. Carl Curtis is joining several other farm state senators in introducing a new farm bill that will have the effect of extending present farm legislation five years.

"The bill is an effort to get an early start on replacing the present legislation that will expire at the end of this year. It is also an effort to assure farmers that Congress isn't going to sit back and see tried and proven farm programs go by the board," said Don Shasteen, a press assistant to Curtis.

Curtis also lashed out at the Washington, D.C., Evening Star for calling for controls on raw agricultural products.

"It is too bad that in this day of sophisticated economic intelligence a newspaper such as the Evening Star shows such a lack of understanding about agriculture," he said.

Curtis predicted that controls on raw agricultural prices at the farm level would produce rationing, discourage farmers from increasing production and create scarcity for all consumers.

No Contest Plea Entered In Slaying

Hastings (UPI) — Mrs. Marylyne Cramer, 38, pleaded no contest Friday to a reduced charge of manslaughter in the Oct. 7, death of her husband, Glen.

Sentencing of Mrs. Cramer, who is eight months pregnant, was delayed for a presentence investigation.

Adams County Attorney William Connolly said Mrs. Cramer, who was originally charged with second-degree murder, was accused of grabbing a butcher knife from a kitchen drawer and stabbing her husband once in the chest during a family argument. Cramer, 43, died a short time later at a local hospital.

The plea was entered before District Court Judge Norris Chadderton.

PROCEDURAL BREAKDOWN BLAMED

Wrong Baby Sent Home

Omaha (AP) — A procedural breakdown at dismissal was the reason for a mixup involving two babies at Omaha's Clarkson Hospital, a hospital spokesman said Friday.

Thomas Monaghan, public relations director, said "someone simply didn't check" the identification bands of the babies.

Each child born at Clarkson is tagged in the delivery room with two identification bracelets, he said, one on the wrist and one on the leg.

At dismissal, Monaghan said, hospital procedure calls for two nurses to check each baby's bracelet to insure the proper identification. The child is then carried to the front over to the mother or a member of the family, he said.

"Someone simply didn't check the bands before turning the child over to the mother," Monaghan said.

The recent error at Clarkson was corrected after Mrs. Robert Hansen, who was baby-sitting for her daughter, Mrs. Victor Montany, discovered the name Thelma Sturgeon on the baby's wristband.

Mrs. Hansen called the hospital, which sent two employees and the right baby to Mrs. Hansen's home.

DAM RESTORATION NEARLY FINISHED

Restoration work at Lake McConaughy's Kingsley Dam is expected to be completed within the next few weeks, according to a Central Nebraska Public Power spokesman.

London Flu Not To Blame For Queasies

By The Associated Press
If you've had the queasies recently, don't blame it on the London flu.

That's the word from Dr. Russell Currier, State Health Department epidemiologist.

Dr. Currier said he is 85% certain this will not be a bad flu year for Nebraska or the nation.

Dr. Currier said, "If the London flu were here, it would be really obvious, and it isn't."

He said in observing plant absenteeism in Nebraska that the rate sometimes will be higher than usual for a couple of days. He blames this on other ailments, including the 24-hour intestinal upset.

But Dr. Currier has a word of caution: judging by the way influenza has hit before, Nebraska could have a severe outbreak next winter.

O'Neill Accused Of Not Filing Tax Returns

Omaha (UPI) — Donald E. O'Neill, O'Neill, Neb., was charged Friday with willful failure to file income tax returns for the years 1967 and 1968.

An information filed in U.S. District Court by Assistant U.S. Attorney Daniel E. Wherry said O'Neill had income in excess of $40,000 for the two-year period.

Each of the counts, upon conviction could carry a maximum one-year prison sentence and a $10,000 fine or both.

Five Arraigned On Charges Of Assaulting Police Officer

Gering (AP) — Five persons charged with assaulting police officers at the Community Action Agency in Gering Wednesday afternoon were arraigned in Scotts Bluff County Court here Friday.

Those arraigned and the charges against them were:

Ramon Perez, 36, Gering, two counts of assaulting or resisting an officer; Madeline Navarro, Denver, two counts of resisting arrest and assaulting an officer; Richard Powers, 17, St. Paul, Minn., and Daniel Larvie, 17, Manderson, S.D., each on one count of assaulting or resisting an officer, and Ted Means, 26, Porcupine, S.D., three counts of assaulting or resisting an officer.

District Judge Glenn Camerer set preliminary hearing for 9 a.m. Monday. Bond was set at $500 per count. Perez and Miss Navarro were allowed to remain out of jail since they were bonded out Thursday.

Russell Means, former national director of the American Indian Movement (AIM), said another AIM official, Vernon Bellecourt was in Washington, D.C., to meet with activists. Means said Bellecourt would "ask them to come to Scottsbluff because of the problems here."

Missouri River Basin Meeting Is Scheduled

Omaha (AP) — The 10-state Missouri River Basin Commission will hold its third business meeting Feb. 7-8 in Omaha, according to John W. Neuberger, commission chairman.

"One item of new business on the Commission's two-day agenda will be commission discussion on the Nebraska Member's proposal to establish a Citizen's Advisory Council," Neuberger stated.

Three Men Are Killed In Truck-Train Collision

By The Associated Press

Three men died in a pickup-truck collision at Kearney and a youth was killed in a two-car accident near Lushton in York County Thursday night.

The State Patrol said 16-year-old Mark T. Bergen of Lushton was killed in the mishap about one-half mile west of Lushton on a county road.

Troopers said young Bergen was driving an eastbound car that was in collision with an auto going west and operated by Norbert Kampnsneider, 55, of Hastings.

At Kearney, the pickup carrying the three men was in collision with an eastbound Union Pacific freight at the Avenue C crossing.

The dead were identified as Donald Schake 28, of rural Amherst, who was the driver; and two passengers, 33-year-old Darrell Trampe and his 29-year-old brother Dale, both of rural Riverdale.

The engineer, 55-year-old E. W. Gleason of North Platte, estimated the train speed at 45 miles per hour.

Witnesses who crossed the tracks just prior to the accident said the lights and bells were working. They said a westbound freight was stopped just east of the crossing and that the victims may have thought the warning signals were caused by the stopped train.

Two Boys Injured

By The Associated Press
Two boys were hospitalized in Kearney as the result of a separate car-pedestrian accident on Highway 30 Thursday.

The first accident occurred in Kearney at 3:45 p.m. and sent Tommy Diez, 6, of Kearney to the hospital where he was listed in good condition Thursday evening. Thirty minutes later Kevin Morris, 8, of Elm Creek was struck on the main street of Elm Creek. His condition was listed as critical.

19 Oil Wells In Richardson County Are Ordered Shut Down March 1

Falls City (AP) — Environmental protection considerations have caused the Nebraska Oil and Gas Commission to order a complete shutdown of 19 oil wells in Richardson County.

Because most of the crude oil from these wells goes to hospitals, schools and other institutions in the surrounding area, the commission extended the Jan. 1 shutdown date until March 1.

tatives said the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports show the water is not "totally unfit" for consumption by livestock.

A Falls City oil well operator said at least two livestock owners in the Falls City field "depend" on the water for their cattle.

The commission's order requires operators to contain all run-off water in disposal wells or pits. The oil well interests, however, said the plan was uneconomical and would cause them to close operations.

An alternative is a permit for the operators to dump the water. A spokesman for Joy and Stout said that firm turned in their application to the Army Corps of Engineers "about a year ago."

Except for a request to correct some errors on the form, he said the firm had "heard nothing" from the corps since November. "No permission, no denial," he said.

All the wells are in the stripper class, producing approximately 2,000,000 gallons of oil per year.

Military Academy Nominees Told

Washington — Two Lincoln youths are among three named by Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., as principal nominees for 1973 entrance to the U. S. Military Academy from Nebraska's First Congressional District.

Those named as principals for nominations to West Point are: Richard K. Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Douglas, 5208 Locust, Lincoln; William M. Noel, son of Mrs. Margaret W. Noel, 3501 D St., Lincoln; and John W. Plucknett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Plucknett, Beatrice.

Douglas has been on the honor roll all semesters at Southeast High School, has represented the school in mathematics and physics competitions, and is a football letterman.

Noel is president of Interact Service club, business manager of the yearbook and has been a class officer at Lincoln High School.

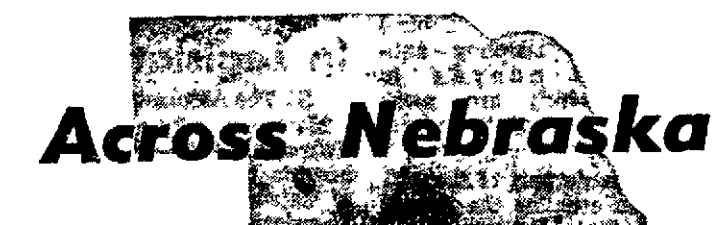

Hunt Resumes For Nebraskan Lost in River

Yankton, S.D. (AP) — A search was resumed in the Missouri River just below Gavins Point Dam Friday for 25-year-old Roger Kathol of Hartington, Neb.

Mr. Kathol was believed to have drowned Thursday when a boat in which he was sitting overturned as it was being put into the river. Authorities said Mr. Kathol was paralyzed from the waist down and was wearing braces on his legs.

A companion, Daniel Mauch, Wynot, Neb., attempted unsuccessfully to rescue Mr. Kathol after the boat overturned.

Flames Destroy Grain Dryer, Corn

Huntley (AP) — A fire early Friday destroyed a grain dryer and about 1,000 bushels of corn in Huntley. Firemen were summoned from the surrounding towns of Alma, Republican City and Holdrege to battle the blaze, which caused an estimated $20,000-$25,000 damage. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Kearney Police Officers Form Lodge

Kearney (UPI) — Members of the Kearney Police Department have approved formation of Nebraska Lodge No. 5 of the Federation of Police Officers. The attorney for the group, Jeff Jacobsen, said the lodge plans to apply to the City Council for authority to become the sole bargaining agent. He stressed it was not a union and there would be no strikes or boycotts.

No Reduced Bus Service Expected

Omaha (AP) — The executive director of the Omaha Transit Authority said that the Metro Area Transit system will be able to weather the fuel shortage this month without reducing bus service. Jerome T. Erdman, OTA director, said however, that he does not know whether service will have to be reduced in February.

Midland Named Project Headquarters

Fremont (AP) — Midland Lutheran College has been named headquarters for the recently formed Northeast Nebraska Educational Search Project. Funded through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the purpose of the project is to aid disadvantaged high school youth, primarily Indians. Students from grades 7-12 will be counseled, tutored, and encouraged to stay in school. Director of the program is Mrs. Theodore Means, past director of the American Indian Center, Sioux City, Iowa.

Theft Of Cash From Hospital Probed

Kearney (UPI) — Authorities are investigating the theft of $250 in cash from a cash register at Good Samaritan Hospital here. They said the cash was believed taken by one of two men who entered the hospital and spoke with the cashier. A similar approach was used in a recent burglary at Mennonite Hospital in Beatrice.

Doctor's Widow Marks 100th Birthday

Seward — Mrs. Joseph (Pances) Morrow, a lifetime resident of Seward, observed her 100th birthday Friday. She is the widow of Dr. Morrow, who was a practicing physician in Germantown (now Garland) when they were married. In 1902 he purchased Dr. Woodward's hospital in Seward. Mrs. Morrow resides in a local nursing home.

Miss Runge Wins Scholarship

Columbus — Sandra Runge, graduate of Lakeview High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Runge of Columbus, has been named winner of the Columbus Mrs. Jaycees scholarship for the 1972-73 academic year at Platte College. Miss Runge has been in attendance at Platte College this past semester and will enter the practical nursing program

Northeast Roms Over Norfolk

Lincoln Northeast's rugged defense trumped on Norfolk, 67-28, in Johnson Gym Friday night. The outcome was never in doubt.

Northeast, third ranked in the state Class A schools, rolled out to a 10-point lead, 14-4, before five minutes of play had elapsed. Norfolk was never closer than eight, 16-8, at 1:59 in the first quarter, after that.

Coach Ed Johnson substituted freely throughout the game as his club ran up quarterly leads of 20-5, 39-13, 52-23 and finally the 67-28 verdict. The Rockets shot an even 50 per cent from the field to a dismal 20 per cent for the 3-8 visitors.

Tom Westover headed a Northeast scoring attack with 17 points while sitting out the final few minutes of the first half and playing only a brief period in the second half. He had 14 points by intermission.

Terry Novak was the only other Rocket in double figures with 10. Bruce Maske had nine. Only starter Rob Ketterer and reserve Mike Kowitzky did not score for Northeast amongst those who played.

Rick Benish topped Norfolk as its only player in double figures with 10.

Northeast's stingy defense and 22 Norfolk turnovers helped the winners reel off streaks of 10 straight points, eight straight (three times) and seven straight in putting the contest out of reach early in the third quarter.

Northeast, now 6-1, will face Lincoln Pius X tonight in Pershing Auditorium. Tipoff time is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Long Jump Title Retained By Angelo State's Owusu

Kansas City (AP) — Joshua Owusu of Angelo State in Texas, weary after an all-night flight from his native Ghana, successfully defended his long jump title in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics indoor track and field championships Friday night with a leap of 24 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Owusu, who arrived in New York at daybreak, was short of his NAIA record performance of last year when he jumped 27-7 1/2.

The long jump was the only event in which the finals were staged in this 15-event eighth annual meet Friday night. All other finals will be Saturday night.

Powerful Running Backs May Settle Pro Bowl Issue

... GREEN BAY'S BROCKINGTON IMPRESSES NFC COACH LANDRY IN WORKOUTS

Dallas (AP) — In the "Year of the Runner" in the National Football League, Sunday's Pro Bowl game between the National and American Conferences could very likely be decided by one of seven 1,000-yard running backs in the game.

Green Bay's John Brockington has caught everyone's eye in National Conference workouts.

"I guess Brockington has impressed me about as much as any one on our team," said NFC Coach Tom Landry. "He has a great attitude besides having tremendous natural ability."

Brockington, Dallas' Calvin Hill, and Ron Johnson of the New York Giants are the 1,000-yard rushers on the NFC side. Larry Brown of Washington, another member of the 1,000-yard club, couldn't play because of an injury. The AFC boasts 1,000-yard gainers in Mercury Morris of Miami, O. J. Simpson of Buffalo, Marv Hubbard of Oakland and Franco Harris of Pittsburgh.

Brockington, who is the only back to ever rush for more than 1,000 yards in his first two years in the NFL, said he wants to be like former of Cleveland.

"Brown beat people because he was there every Sunday, killing them on every play," Brockington said. "Mainly, I want that consistency."

The 6-foot-1, 225-pound Brockington is as consistent as they come. His running theory is simple: "The first thing you have to do when you're a running back is accept the fact you're going to get hit. If your running slow, you get hit, and if you're running fast you're going to get hit, too. So, you might as well run fast and hard."

The AFC team coached by Pittsburgh's Chuck Noll has been hampered by the flu in workouts with linebacker Nick Buoniconti and defensive end Bill Stanfill, both of Miami, the hardest hit. Both were expected to be ready for the 4 p.m. (EST) kickoff of the nationally televised game.

A crowd of between 35,000 and 40,000 is expected for the game in Texas Stadium. It's the first time the game has been played outside of Los Angeles since its inception in 1951. Next year's Pro Bowl is scheduled for Kansas City.

Rodgers, Glover Numbers Retired

... SNAFUS MAR NU FOOTBALL APPRECIATION BANQUET

By HAL BROWN
 Star Sports Editor

With the new NCAA limitations on football scholarships, it isn't likely to cause a bind when Nebraska's equipment manager Gib Babcock issues uniforms in the future, but he'll be short two jerseys.

Nebraska Nos. 20 and 79 belonging to Rich Glover and Johnny Rodgers, respectively, have been retired, Husker athletic director Bob Devaney announced Friday night at the annual NU Football Appreciation Banquet.

Rodgers' 20 and Glover's 79 thus join Tom Novak's 50 on the retired list at NU and in making the retirement announcement Devaney told Nebraska's underclassmen, "We also have agreed to retire your number should you win the Heisman Trophy or both the Outland and Lombardi trophies."

Rodgers became the first NU player to win the Heisman Trophy as the top college player in the country and Glover became the first player to capture both the Outland and Lombardi awards in the same year.

The Outland Trophy is awarded by the Football Writers Association to the outstanding interior lineman and the Lombardi Trophy is awarded to the nation's outstanding lineman.

The Heisman Trophy was presented to Rodgers at the banquet as was the Outland Trophy to Glover, but Glover's Lombardi Trophy went unnoticed.

That wasn't the only snafu, however, at a banquet that started with both Rodgers and Glover, along with several teammates, having to hunt for a place to sit in the overflow crowd of some 600 at the Radisson-Cornhusker Hotel.

In addition to the seating foul-up and the bad steaks, the Nebraska Extra Point Club presented a senior watch to junior Frosty Anderson and skipped senior Dave Mason in the watch presentation ceremonies.

Husker co-captain Bill Janssen went to the podium to correct the oversight on Mason.

In addition to the re-presentation of the Heisman Trophy to Rodgers, the Outland Award to Glover and the Orange Bowl Trophy to the team by OB representative James Llewellyn, several new honors were announced.

Glover was named winner of the Guy Chamberlin Trophy symbolic of the Husker spirit in the Chamberlin tradition.

Glover, to no one's surprise, also was named the top senior defensive lineman by the Lincoln Optimists Clubs, who also named Joe Blahak top senior defensive back. Rodgers top senior offensive back and Doug Dummer top senior offensive lineman.

The Optimists also presented a special award naming Devaney Coach of the Year for 1972 and the Extra Point Club presented a large picture of Devaney to hang in the training table room at Selleck Quadrangle.

Devaney called the 1972 squad two different teams. "At times they were the most exciting team I've seen in college football," he said. "At other times they were a little unpredictable."

"In the Orange Bowl (40-6 over Notre Dame), there was never a better team on that one day."

Waverly 66
 Wahoo 59

Waverly — Charlie Bell, John Winter and Marty Weber led Waverly here Friday night to a 66-59 win over Wahoo.

Bill scored 26 points, Winter 16 and Weber 11 as the Vikings raised their record to 9-3. Steve Richardson was Wahoo's top scorer with 17 points.

Broken Bow coach Dick Stephens, a 1964 graduate of Doane College, also reached his 100th coaching win as the Indians outlasted Southwest foe Gothenburg, 55-53.

Spartans Move To 7-0 Mark

... GAST HITS 19 POINTS

By MIKE JOHNSON
 Star Sports Writer

The Bison is indeed an endangered species. Lincoln East, ranked No. 1 in the Class A basketball ratings, annihilated McCook, 91-28, Friday night at the East Gym to hand the Bison their seventh consecutive loss.

The Spartans, meanwhile, registered their seventh consecutive win in preparation for an 8 p.m. date Saturday at the East Gym with North Platte.

East coach Paul Forch pointed to the game as an opportunity for his reserves to play and for his starters to rest for Saturday's game.

"A victory like this gives us a chance to play our reserves," Forch said. "We have five or six players who work hard in practice and play an important role in the team's success but rarely get the chance to play."

"When we let our reserves play, their attitude improves which helps the overall team moral," he added. "We also may have an advantage against North Platte tomorrow night. They have a tough opponent in Kearney tonight (Friday night) while we were able to rest our starters."

McCook challenged East—well, at least for the first two minutes, when the score was 4-4.

But, after taking a commanding 20-10 lead, the Spartans scored 19 consecutive points before McCook's senior guard David Unger retaliated with 1:59 remaining in the half, the Bison's only basket of the second quarter after failing to score for 10:11.

Reg Gast and Rick Samuelson each scored 10 points in the first half despite playing less than 13 minutes. Forch relieved his entire starting five with 3:26 left in the half.

East tallied 17 straight points in the third quarter to extend a 49-16 lead to 66-16 with 1:27 left in the third stanza.

The Spartans tied a school record with 39 field goals against the Bison. East also scored 39 against Beatrice in the 1969-70 season.

East fell just five points short of the all-time school record in team scoring. The Spartans tallied 96 last year against Grand Island.

Gast topped East with 19 points while Samuelson added 16. Reserve Jim Spahn, who scored 10 points in the last stanza, and junior center Curt Hedberg, who tallied eight in the third period, added 14 and 12 respectively.

McCook's tallest starter 6-0 center David Winder led the Bison with eight. McCook's record fell to 3-9.

Columbus Nudges By LHS

Columbus — The free throw line ruined a decided Lincoln High advantage from the field here Friday night as defending state champion Columbus nudged the Links 64-63.

The Links chalked up 30 field goals to 17 for Columbus but were outscored 30-3 at the free throw stripe in a close, physical game that saw the Links on top by five early in the fourth period.

But Columbus' free throw edge dominated the final stanza as the Discoverers converted on 12 of 16 attempts while the Links made 2 of 4.

Paul Potter, Columbus' only returning starter from last year's state titleists, sank seven of 10 fourth quarter free throws and 17 of 23 overall. He led all scorers with 27 points.

The Links went into the fourth quarter with a 47-44 advantage and then went ahead by five, 49-44, before Columbus surged back as the Links were whittled for 10 infractions.

Columbus led by six late in the game and then held on as the Links pulled within one in the final seconds.

Steve Harris paced Lincoln High with 20 points, all from the field. The Links hit 41 per cent of their field goal tries to 38 per cent for Columbus.

Potter, a 6-3 senior, was the game's leading rebounder with 17. Harris paced Lincoln High with 15 as Columbus had a 43-34 team advantage.

NWU Opens NIAC Play At Hastings

By STEVE GILLISPIE
 Star Sports Writer

Hastings — Nebraska Wesleyan will find out early what its chances are of winning the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title.

The 6-6 Plainsmen open NIAC play here Saturday night at Kiewit Gym starting at 7:30 against Hastings. The 13-1 Broncos are favored to win the NIAC title.

Coach Dr. Lynn Farrell's team has ripped off 13 straight victories after a season-opening 69-68 loss to Mt. Marty, S.D., on the road.

Hastings thumped Mt. Marty, 116-84, when the South Dakota club played here later in the season.

The Yankton, S.D. team was playing its fourth game, while the Broncos their first in the two teams' initial meeting.

Depth and teamwork have been the keys for Hastings' success according to Farrell. "We have nine players who are starters," he said.

"It doesn't really matter who's on the floor for us at the opening tipoff because the other four will play a lot."

Farrell shuffles the nine starters in and out of the game so each plays about the same amount of time. This has been an ideal situation for the fast-breaking Broncos.

"We'll have to slow Hastings down and shoot better," NWU coach Dr. Irv Peterson said.

"Hastings will fast break and take short-range jump shots with a high degree of success, so we've got to completely slow them down."

Because the Broncos are good outside shooters, no team has been in a zone defense very long without falling behind.

The nine Hastings' starters are Jim Jones, Brad Schneider, Bob Jackson, Chuck Minster, Rick Berkshire, Paul Thomas, Mike Trader and Mike and Pat Storus.

Of the group only Jones is a senior.

Farrell lost six seniors off last year's 20-8 team, but brought in four junior transfers and one freshman. The four juco transfers are Trader, Jackson, Minster and Schneider.

The Plainsmen are expected to start Mike Renken, John Strain, Steve Joekel, Riedell Lintz and Charlie Rine. Dean DeBner should see a lot of action for NWU.

Other NIAC games on Saturday night will have defending champion Doane hosting Midland and Concordia at Dana.

Knights Trample Hastings

Hastings — The Lincoln Southeast Knights used a stingy defense and the snooting of seniors Jim Thompson and Paul Haas to rout the Hastings Tigers, 75-48 here Friday night.

The Tigers surprised the Knights and jumped to an early 8-0 lead. Southeast fought back to a 15-11 advantage at the end of the first stanza and Hastings could not mount another threat as the Knights led the rest of the way.

The Tigers' offense could never get rolling after their initial spurt, and no Tiger managed to crack double figures.

After intermission, Southeast put the contest out of reach behind tough defense and eight points in the third quarter by Haas, who finished with 18.

The Knights evened their season record at 5-5 while Hastings fell to 0-8.

Milford's Slate Clean, Henderson Falls, 73-69

... CLASS C'S NO. 1 EAGLES UNBEATEN

By RAND YORCK
Prep Sports Writer

Milford — It went down to the last two seconds here Friday night, but Milford is still the unbeatable king of its home court.

The No. 1-ranked Class C Eagles won their 35th straight home game by turning back a spirited Henderson club, 73-69, before a turnaway crowd of about 1,000.

"We spent our whole week on this one. I'll be nice to get a game where we can breathe a little easier," Milford coach Denny Bergen said after his club's 11th win this season without a loss.

"It seems like every game is getting tougher," he added, noting Milford's narrow escape from Class B David City in the final seconds last weekend.

The Eagles' home court win streak dates back to Feb. 2, 1969. Wymore Southern was the last team to whip Milford on the Milford court.

Henderson came close to ending the streak, but Larry Heyen's two free throws off a one-and-one situation with two seconds remaining dashed the possibility. Heyen, who finished with a game high 26 points, had also hit a pair of gift shots with 1:18 remaining to boost the Milford margin to 70-65.

"I'll say this," offered Bergen. "Henderson is a much improved team over the last time we played 'em. Generally speaking, I'd say we had to play a pretty good ball game to beat them. They were ready to play."

The hot-shooting Huskies, thanks to a 46 per cent field goal shooting performance, kept it close all the way and even held a six-point lead midway through the third quarter on Lowell Siebert's three-point play.

But Heyen answered the challenge. Although he finished only 10 of 26 from the field for the night, he connected on six straight third quarter fielders when the going was toughest.

"He's pretty clutch," said Bergen, who also received 15 points from Marty Anderson and 11 apiece from Gary Armstrong and Jeff Stutzman.

Milford's best clutch performance, however, may have come from 5-10 sophomore guard Ron Wergin. He came off the bench in the fourth quarter to fire in three of four shots.

They were Milford's only fourth quarter fielders as the Eagles needed eight late free throws to thwart Henderson's challenge.

Seward's Barth Resigns Positions

Seward — Jim Barth, who coached Seward to a 10-0 season and No. 3 Class B football rating last fall, has resigned his coaching and teaching positions.

The resignation becomes effective June 1. Barth cited personal reasons for the resignation, commenting that the decision "has nothing to do with athletics." He added that he has "no immediate plans."

Grid Rules Modified By NCAA

Point Clear, Ala. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association's Football Rules Committee voted Friday to permit unlimited substitution when the ball is dead, and also approved a modification of the fair catch rule.

The 16 voting members of the committee approved 14 changes, including a number of minor revisions, which will be placed in effect for the 1973 season.

Committee Chairman John Waldorf of Kansas City, Mo., and commissioner of officials for the Big Eight, said the changes approved were all noncontroversial. He added, however, "I believe these rules will have some impact on the game of football."

Waldorf and Committee Secretary Davey Nelson, University of Delaware athletic director, explained the changes during a news conference at the close of a three-day session of the group.

The fair catch rule revision requires, Waldorf said, that the player so signaling must raise his arm over his head and wave it from one side to the other at least one time.

He said this would force the receiver to make his fair catch signal a little earlier than if he merely raised his arm as required in the past. Failure of the receiver to make the side to side motion with his hand would result in a 15-yard penalty.

The free substitution change will permit a coach to send in any number of eligible substitutes when the ball is dead, and officials will not be required to record who the subs are.

Milford's Slate Clean, Henderson Falls, 73-69

... CLASS C'S NO. 1 EAGLES UNBEATEN

By RAND YORR

Prep Sports Writer

Milford — It went down to the last two seconds here Friday night, but Milford is still the unbeatable king of its homecourt.

The No. 1-ranked Class C Eagles won their 35th straight home game by turning back a spirited Henderson club, 73-69, before a turnaway crowd of about 1,000.

"We spent our whole week on this one. It'll be nice to get a game where we can breathe a little easier," Milford coach Denny Borgen said after his club's 11th win this season without a loss.

"It seems like every game is getting tougher," he added, noting Milford's narrow escape from Class B David City in the final seconds last weekend.

The Eagles' home court win skein dates back to Feb. 2, 1969. Wymore Southern was the last team to whip Milford on the Milford court.

Henderson came close to ending the streak, but Larry Heyen's two free throws off a one-and-one situation with two seconds remaining dashed the possibility.

Heyen, who finished with a game high 26 points, had also hit a pair of gift shots with 1:18 remaining to boost the Milford margin to 70-65.

"I'll say this," offered Borgen. "Henderson is a much improved team over the last time we played 'em. Generally speaking, I'd say we had to play a pretty good ball game to beat them. They were ready to play."

The hot-shooting Huskies, thanks to a 46 per cent field goal shooting performance, kept it close all the way and even held a six-point lead midway through the third quarter on Lowell Siebert's three-point play.

But Heyen answered the challenge. Although he finished only 10 of 26 from the field for the night, he connected on six straight third quarter fielders when the going was toughest.

"He's pretty clutch," said Borgen, who also received 15 points from Marty Anderson and 11 apiece from Gary Armstrong and Jeff Stutzman.

Milford's best clutch performance, however, may have come from 5-10 sophomore guard Ron Wergin. He came off the bench in the fourth quarter to fire in three of four shots.

They were Milford's only fourth quarter fielders as the Eagles needed eight late free throws to thwart Henderson's challenge.

Seward's Barth Resigns Positions

Seward — Jim Barth, who coached Seward to a 10-0 season and No. 3 Class B football rating last fall, has resigned his coaching and teaching positions.

The resignation becomes effective June 1. Barth cited personal reasons for the resignation, commenting that the decision "has nothing to do with athletics." He added that he has "no immediate plans."

Indoor Tennis Courts Available For Public

The indoor tennis courts at East High will be available on Monday nights from 7 to 10 p.m. starting Monday. The courts are available by advanced reservation made at the Lincoln Parks and Recreation Office, 475-6734.

Reservations will be taken until the courts are filled. There is no fee and the courts may be reserved for one-hour periods. For more information contact the Lincoln Parks and Recreation Department, 2740 A Street.

'Ladies Night Out' Resumes After Break

Ladies Night Out has resumed after the holiday break. Organized exercise, volleyball, basketball and miscellaneous activities are available on Tuesday nights at Robin Mickle Junior High, 67th and Walker; Wednesday nights at Goodrich Junior High, 14th and Superior and Thursday nights at Millard Leffler, 48th and D.

The gyms will be open from 7:30 to 9 p.m. each of those evenings.

Official Rules Modified By NCAA

Point Clear, Ala. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association's Football Rules Committee voted Friday to permit unlimited substitution when the ball is dead, and also approved a modification of the fair catch rule.

The 16 voting members of the committee approved 14 changes, including a number of minor revisions, which will be placed in effect for the 1973 season.

Committee Chairman John Waldorf of Kansas City, Mo., and commissioner of officials for the Big Eight, said the changes approved were all noncontroversial. He added, however, "I believe these rules will have some impact on the game of football."

Waldorf and Committee Secretary Davey Nelson, University of Delaware athletic director, explained the changes during a news conference at the close of a three-day session of the group.

The fair catch rule revision requires, Waldorf said, that the player so signaling must raise his arm over his head and wave it from one side to the other at least one time.

He said this would force the receiver to make his fair catch signal a little earlier than if he merely raised his arm as required in the past. Failure of the receiver to make the side to side motion with his hand would result in a 15-yard penalty.

The free substitution change will permit a coach to send in any number of eligible substitutes when the ball is dead, and officials will not be required to record who the subs are.

Acting on two timely tips Lincoln police arrested two men late Friday afternoon in connection with the investigation of several thefts at hospitals across the state.

Li. Roger LaPage said a 43-year-old Houston, Texas, man and a 42-year-old Mobile, Alabama, man were arrested after police received a call from the Beatrice Police Department saying that the two men might be in Lincoln.

Police said between $500 and $1,000 was taken along with valuables belonging to patients from the Mennonite Hospital in Beatrice on the 16th.

LaPage said $73,000 in cash and checks were taken from Archbishop Bergen Mercy Hospital in Omaha recently.

Other hospitals reporting thefts are the Good Samaritan Hospital in Kearney on the 17th, Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital in Norfolk on Friday and the St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island was victimized twice on the 16th and the 18th.

Their possible connection with a theft at the York Hospital is also being investigated.

LaPage said that one of the men would keep the receptionist occupied with a number of questions while the other would go through unlocked safes and drawers.

The second tip came to police when a service station attendant called reporting that two men in a car bearing Alabama license plates had paid for their gas with small change.

The car was located approximately 20 minutes later near 13th and P.

LaPage followed him back into the theater and sat down behind the two men and made them leave. Al Maxey and Ivan Waples arrived to assist.

LaPage said the two were carrying a large amount of money when they were arrested.

Employees of the Mennonite Hospital in Beatrice were in Lincoln Friday night to make a positive identification of the two.

LaPage said their car was also being held for investigation by other agencies.

The 42-year-old man is reportedly also wanted for a safe burglary in Marshalltown, Iowa.

Revision To Obscenity Law Will Be Heard By Council

A revision of the city's obscenity ordinance — prohibiting the dissemination and pandering of obscene materials — will receive City Council consideration at a public hearing Jan. 29th.

The proposed ordinance, which will be placed on first reading before the council Monday, updates the city's statute to meet present obscenity standards as defined by recent U. S. Supreme Court and federal court decisions, City Attorney Dick Wood reported.

Using those federal standards, the proposed ordinance states, "The standard for judging obscenity is whether to the average person, applying contemporary community standards, the dominant theme of such material or performance, taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest, which is to excite lustful thoughts, or a shameful or morbid interest in nudity, sex, excretion, sadism or masochism, which goes substantially beyond the customary limits of candor and is utterly without redeeming social value."

The ordinance would apply to books, magazines, drawings, records, plays and exhibitions.

In addition, the ordinance makes it illegal to pandering obscene material, saying, "Any person who writes, creates, or solicits . . . otherwise advertises or promotes the sale, dissemination, distribution, or exhibition of any material or performance represented . . . to be obscene . . . shall be guilty of pandering obscene material."

The ordinance also prohibits disseminating obscene material to minors.

Violation of the ordinance would carry a misdemeanor charge. Penalty for violation of the statute would be up to six months in jail or a $500 fine or both.

Irwin Says Moonwalk Provides Spiritual Uplift

Apollo 15 astronaut Col. James Irwin said Friday that he found walking on the moon to be like walking on a trampoline, but that it was harder to "describe the 'spiritual uplift' he experienced on the moon."

Col. Irwin, speaking to students at Union College in Lincoln, said that although astronauts brought back rocks from the moon, they also brought back "impressions . . . spiritual things."

"When you go out a quarter of a million miles you see earth in a new perspective," he said. "You see what a precious spaceship the 'space ship earth' is."

Tip Alters Values
Irwin said that most of the astronauts who have gone to the moon have become involved in some humanitarian endeavor.

"It's a very materialistic world we live in," Irwin said, "and it's easy for man to forget that he must be inspired."

Irwin also said that stating that Americans spent $2.4 billion to bring back 800 pounds of rocks from the moon does not tell the whole story.

He said that through instruments left on the moon man is still gaining in knowledge. One example, he said, is laser reflectors which help scientists measure the vobble of the earth on its axis.

Provide Information
He said these measurements would help scientists understand earthquake and verify the theory of continental drift.

In remarks to newsmen Irwin added that he believes that the space program and space technology has affected "every area of life" and that space technology has spurred the development of technology in other fields.

"Like it or not, our country's future depends on technology," he said.

Irwin also said that he feels the United States is "great" enough to support domestic programs and still support the space program.

Advanced technology notwithstanding, it may have been easier for Irwin to land on the moon than at Lincoln's Municipal Airport.

He found Lincoln blanketed by fog and had to land at Beatrice and ride to Lincoln by automobile.

John Sherman To Become NIH Acting Director

Washington (UPI) — Dr. John F. Sherman, deputy director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) for the past four years, was named as its acting director Friday. His predecessor, Dr. Robert Q. Marston, became acting director of one of the agency's 10 institutes.

Marston, who resigned at President Nixon's request, said in a letter to employees that he had asked to remain at NIH. He has held the top post since 1968.

Marston will become acting director of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke, said an announcement by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He replaced Dr. Edward Macnichol who has asked to be relieved of his duties.

Albert Harvey Is Charged Following Inmate's Escape

A Nebraska Penal Complex officer was charged Friday with a felony offense of knowingly allowing one to escape from custody in connection with the Jan. 9 escape of Raymond Moss.

Albert Harvey, 29, of 2311 W requested a preliminary hearing in Lancaster County

French N-Sub Begins Service In N. Atlantic

Paris (AP) — The French navy's second missile-launching nuclear submarine, the Terrible, has gone into service in the North Atlantic area, giving France a permanent submarine-borne nuclear deterrent for the first time, the government announced Friday.

The 8,000-ton Terrible joins the Redoutable in maintaining a permanent patrol. Each nuclear-powered submarine carries 16 Polaris-type atomic missiles with a range of 1,500 miles, the distance from the North Sea to Moscow. The Redoutable went into service a year ago and will now alternate its four yearly patrols with the Terrible.

A third nuclear submarine is under construction.

Two Persons Slightly Hurt In Pile-Up

Two persons received only minor injuries early Friday morning when icy roads on A St. between Kingston Rd. & 70th caused a six-car chain-reaction pile-up, police said.

According to police, the accident happened this way: Debra A. Roper, 16, of 6100 Vine, Apt. 48, was driving eastbound on A St. when a car backed out into the traffic lane. According to police, Miss Roper braked in time to avoid a collision but her car turned 180 degrees, facing east-bound traffic.

A car driven by Julie E. Berglund, 17, of 5430 Fairdale Rd., was travelling east-bound and swerved into the Roper auto.

Another east-bound car driven by James M. Winter, 16, of 839 Lyncrest, struck the rear of the Berglund car.

At that point, Deborah A. Andersen, 16, of 8105 So. Cherrywood Dr., told police she tried to avoid hitting the three cars in the road by driving into the west-bound lane but struck the Berglund auto.

All four are students at east High School.

Then another east-bound car driven by Natalie McClendon, 17, of 1970 B, collided head-on with the Winter car. Miss McClendon, a Lincoln High Student, received a cut lip.

The last car, driven by Steven A. Hood, 21, of 6000 Fromont, was west-bound on A. Hood said he tried to avoid the pile-up by driving onto the shoulder, but skidded straight and first struck the front end of the Andersen auto, then skidded into the left rear of the Berglund car.

Hood, a machinist, received a broken tooth in the mishap.

BIA Changes Said To Offer Nothing New

Washington (AP) — The president of the National Congress of American Indians said Friday that recent reorganization of the Bureau of Indian Affairs "does nothing to change the past pattern and past responsibility of the Bureau or the Interior Department in handling Indian problems."

Lee Cook told a news conference the reorganization "does nothing but divert power and funds to ex-officio commissioners and district officers."

He said the reorganization was done not for Indians but because "the Department of Interior is establishing an agency which as far as they are concerned will be responsible to and representative of the Department of Interior."

Two Men Arrested In Thefts From Hospitals

By JIM DeCAMP
Star Staff Writer

Acting on two timely tips Lincoln police arrested two men late Friday afternoon in connection with the investigation of several thefts at hospitals across the state.

LA. Roger LaPage said a 43-year-old Houston, Texas, man and a 42-year-old Mobile, Alabama, man were arrested after police received a call from the Beatrice Police Department saying that the two men might be in Lincoln.

Police said between $500 and $1,000 was taken along with valuables belonging to patients from the Mennonite Hospital in Beatrice on the 16th.

LaPage said $73,000 in cash and checks were taken from Archbishop Bergen Mercy Hospital in Omaha recently.

Other hospitals reporting thefts are the Good Samaritan Hospital in Kearney on the 17th, Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital in Norfolk on Friday and the St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island was victimized twice on the 16th and the 18th.

Their possible connection with a theft at the York Hospital is also being investigated.

LaPage said that one of the men would keep the receptionist occupied with a number of questions while the other would go through unlocked safes and drawers.

The second tip came to police when a service station attendant called reporting that two men in a car bearing Alabama license plates had paid for their gas with small change.

The car was located approximately 20 minutes later near 13th and P.

Police sat back and observed the car until a man answering one of the descriptions came out of the Stuart Theater and put money in the parking meter.

LaPage followed him back into the theater and sat down behind the two men and made tenses. Al Maxey and Ivan Waples arrived to assist.

LaPage said the two were carrying a large amount of money when they were arrested.

Employees of the Mennonite Hospital in Beatrice were in Lincoln Friday night to make a positive identification of the two.

LaPage said their car was also being held for investigation by other agencies.

The 42-year-old man is reportedly also wanted for a safe burglary in Marshalltown, Iowa.

Irwin Says Moonwalk Provides Spiritual Uplift

Appollo 15 astronaut Col. James Irwin said Friday that he found walking on the moon to be like walking on a trampoline, but that it was harder to describe the "spiritual uplift" he experienced on the moon.

Col. Irwin, speaking to students at Union College in Lincoln, said that although astronauts brought back rocks from the moon, they also brought back "impressions... spiritual things."

"When you go out a quarter of a million miles you see earth in a new perspective," he said. "You see what a precious spaceship the 'spaceship earth' is."

Irwin said that most of the astronauts who have gone to the moon have become involved in some humanitarian endeavor.

"It's a very materialistic world we live in," Irwin said, "and it's easy for man to forget that he must be inspired."

Irwin also said that stating that Americans spent $24 billion to bring back 800 pounds of rocks from the moon does not tell the whole story.

He said that through instruments left on the moon man is still gaining in knowledge. One example, he said, is laser reflectors which help scientists measure the wobble of the earth on its axis.

Provide Information

He said these measurements would help scientists understand earthquake and verify the theory of continental drift.

In remarks to newsmen Irwin added that he believes that the space program and space technology has affected "every area of life" and that space technology has spurred the development of technology in other fields.

"Like it or not, our country's future depends on technology," he said.

Irwin also said that he feels the United States is "great" enough to support domestic programs and still support the space program.

Advanced technology notwithstanding, it may have been easier for Irwin to land on the moon than at Lincoln's Municipal Airport.

John Sherman To Become NIH Acting Director

Washington (UPI) — Dr. John F. Sherman, deputy director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) for the past four years, was named as its acting director Friday. His predecessor, Dr. Robert Q. Marston, became acting director of one of the agency's 10 institutes.

Marston, who resigned at President Nixon's request, said in a letter to employees that he had asked to remain at NIH. He has held the top post since 1968.

Marston will become acting director of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke, said an announcement by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He replaced Dr. Edward Macnichol who has asked to be relieved of his duties.

Jail Inmate Dies

South Charleston, W. Va. (UPI) — An inmate of the South Charleston Jail died of head injuries suffered when his belt broke while he apparently was trying to hang himself, authorities said. John Henry Alderson, 62, was jailed on a charge of intoxication.

Albert Harvey Is Charged Following Inmate's Escape

A Nebraska Penal Complex officer was charged Friday with a felony offense of knowingly allowing one to escape from custody in connection with the Jan. 9 escape of Raymond Moss.

Albert Harvey, 29, of 2311 W. requested a preliminary hearing in Lancaster County Court which was set Feb. 8. He was released on $1,500 bond.

According to Warden Charles Wolff, Moss didn't escape by jumping from a car while on an authorized trip into Lincoln from the Penal Complex as was reported earlier.

"Investigation into the matter shows this is not in fact what happened," Wolff said.

French N-Sub Begins Service In N. Atlantic

Paris (AP) — The French navy's second missile-launching nuclear submarine, the Terrible, has gone into service in the North Atlantic area, giving France a permanent submarine-borne nuclear deterrent for the first time, the government announced Friday.

The 8,000-ton Terrible joins the Redoutable in maintaining a permanent patrol. Each nuclear-powered submarine carries 16 Polaris-type atomic missiles with a range of 1,500 miles, the distance from the North Sea to Moscow. The Redoutable went into service a year ago and will now alternate its four yearly patrols with the Terrible.

A third nuclear submarine is under construction.

Two Persons Slightly Hurt In Pile-Up

Two persons received only minor injuries early Friday morning when icy roads on A St. between Kingston Rd. and 70th caused a six-car chain-reaction pile-up, police said.

According to police, the accident happened this way: Debra A. Roper, 16, of 6100 Vine, Apt. 48, was driving eastbound on A St. when a car backed out into the traffic lane. According to police, Miss Roper braked in time to avoid a collision but her car turned 180 degrees, facing east-bound traffic.

A car driven by Julie E. Berglund, 17, of 5430 Fairdale Rd., was travelling east-bound and swerved into the Roper auto.

Another east-bound car driven by James M. Winter, 16, of 839 Lyncrest, struck the rear of the Berglund car.

At that point, Deborah A. Andersen, 16, of 8105 So. Cherrywood Dr., told police she tried to avoid hitting the three cars in the road by driving into the west-bound lane but struck the Berglund auto.

All four are students at east High School.

Then another east-bound car driven by Natalie McClelland, 17, of 1970 B, collided head-on with the Winter car. Miss McClelland, a Lincoln High Student, received a cut lip.

The last car, driven by Steven A. Hood, 21, of 6000 Fremont, was west-bound on A. Hood said he tried to avoid the pile-up by driving onto the shoulder, but skidded straight and first struck the front end of the Andersen auto, then skidded into the left rear of the Berglund car.

Hood, a machinist, received a broken tooth in the mishap.

BIA Changes Said To Offer Nothing New

Washington (AP) — The president of the National Congress of American Indians said Friday that recent reorganization of the Bureau of Indian Affairs "does nothing to change the past pattern and past irresponsibility of the Bureau or the Interior Department in handling Indian problems."

Lee Cook told a news conference the reorganization "does nothing but divert power and funds to ex-officio commissioners and district offices."

He said the reorganization was done not for Indians but because "the Department of Interior is establishing an agency which as far as they are concerned will be responsible to and representative of the Department of Interior."

Revision To Obscenity Law Will Be Heard By Council

A revision of the city's obscenity ordinance — prohibiting the dissemination and pandering of obscene materials — will receive City Council consideration at a public hearing Jan. 29th.

The proposed ordinance, which will be placed on first reading before the council Monday, updates the city's statute to meet present obscenity standards as defined by recent U.S. Supreme Court and federal court decisions, City Attorney Dick Wood reported.

Using those federal standards, the proposed ordinance states, "The standard for judging obscenity... is whether to the average person, applying contemporary community standards, the dominant theme of such material or performance, taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest, which is to excite lustful thoughts, or a shameful or morbid interest in nudity, sex, excretion, sadism or masochism, which goes substantially beyond the customary limits of candor... and is utterly without redeeming social value."

The ordinance would apply to books, magazines, drawings, records, plays and exhibitions. In addition, the ordinance makes it illegal to pandar obscene material, saying, "Any person who writes, creates, or solicits... otherwise advertises or promotes the sale, dissemination, distribution, or exhibition of any material or performance represented... to be obscene... shall be guilty of pandering obscene material."

The ordinance also prohibits disseminating obscene material to minors. Violation of the ordinance would carry a misdemeanor charge. Penalty for violation of the statute would be up to six months in jail or a $500 fine or both.

Jackson (U) — The body of a Ponca man apparently killed in a traffic mishap early Friday was not located until late Friday afternoon, the Nebraska State Patrol reported.

Troopers said Wilfred Kamrath, 35, apparently died when his car veered off U.S. Highway 20 one and one-half mile east of Jackson, enB.

The car entered a cornfield and rolled several times, troopers said.

The death raised the 1973 traffic death toll to 20, compared to 17 on this date one year ago.

Officer Assaulted During Apparent Escape Attempt

Frank Frometa, a 17-year-old youth who was arraigned Thursday on a charge of rape later assaulted a police officer in an apparent attempt to escape from the City Jail, according to police reports.

According to police, Officer Donald Robbins was attempting to move Frometa from one cell to another when Frometa jerked loose and ran down a corridor.

His path was blocked by a locked door, however, and Frometa turned back and struck and bit Officer Robbins on the right arm, according to police.

Officer Robbins received a tetanus shot at Lincoln General, according to police.

Pushed To Reduce Speed Limit

No action was taken on the bill by the committee following the lengthy public hearing.

The 1971 Legislature raised night-time limits from 60 to 65 and since then, there has been a 57% increase in after-dark fatalities, Sullivan said. Day-time limits are 65 on state roads.

Limited vision is the major problem at night, the committee was told, since low-beam headlights have a range of 250 feet and a person travelling 65 is moving about 350 feet per second. But at 60 the car is still travelling more than 300 feet per second, according to Ken Seckmeyer, director of the safety division of the State Roads Department.

Earlier Friday Gov. J. J. Exon urged legislators to lower the night-time limits. A similar proposal backed by Exon in the 1972 session was killed by the public works committee.

The only opposition to LB64 came Friday from Robert Van Valkenburg of Lincoln, who said most fatalities occur in daylight hours and said statistics are not compelling enough to warrant the cost of changing all the signs which would have to be repainted.

The lowered speed limit was also supported by Col. J. F. Kruger, superintendent of the State Patrol and Nebraska Women for Highway Safety.

Student Injured When Bicycle Strikes Taxi

A 19-year-old university student received cuts and bruises Friday when the bicycle she was riding collided with a taxi at 17th & R, police said.

Joyce L. Lallman of 545 N. 23rd, Apt. 3, was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Community Health Center.

Miss Lallman told police she had gone through an amber light at the intersection when her bicycle collided with the side of a north-bound cab driven by Robert W. Lyons, 24, of 1130 N. 14th. Lyons was not injured.

Damage to the taxi, owned by Yellow Cab Co., was estimated at $105, according to police.

Summaries

New York (UPI) — Stock market prices fell back a bit Friday, as investors played a waiting game to see what impact Economic Phase 3 would have on inflation and interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had plummeted more than 10 points early in the session, recovered somewhat and closed down 2.93 at 1026.19.

Declines blanketed advances, 928 to 522, among the 1,788 issues that changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange. Volume was fairly active and totaled 17.02 million shares.

The broad-based NYSE of some 1,400 common stocks finished down 09 at 64.51, with 53 new yearly lows posted for the day as against only 23 new yearly highs.

Analysts linked the decline to speculation that major commercial banks are likely to increase their prime lending rate soon from 6 to 6 1/4%.

They also noted that Wall Street remained concerned that the switch to voluntary wage-price controls might spur inflation.

"Basically, no one knows how Phase 3 will work until it is tested," said Robert Stovall of Reynolds Securities.

"The first labor union demand over the old guidelines or the first major industrial price rise may be some weeks off."

Household Finance led the active issues on the NYSE, stirred by institutional trading. The common closed at 30 1/2, after a block of 100,000 shares moved at 30 1/2.

The NASDAQ composite index on the Over-the-Counter market finished off at 132.87.

Oils were strong and active, reflecting the general downside as a result of interest in energy stocks because of the domestic fuel shortage. Exxon was up 1/4 to 23 1/2, Gulf gained 1/4 to 22 1/2, and Texaco and Xerox climbed 1/4 to 15 1/2.

On the American Stock Exchange, declines outnumbered advances by about 400 to 300. The price change index closed down .05 to 26.31.

The NASDAQ composite index on the Over-the-Counter market finished off at 132.87.

Soybean Futures Prices Soar 63c

Chicago (UPI) — Soybeans futures prices soared an unprecedented 63 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade this past week.

On four straight days, soybeans as well as soybean meal advanced the limits permitted for one session. Soybeans moved up 10 cents daily up to Friday, and meal advanced 5 a day.

On Friday, the board's directors removed the price movement limitation on the expiring January soybean option and it advanced from $4.69 1/2, the previous close, to an even $5 a bushel, where it also closed.
